Sen. Thomas Asks Reconsideration Of Vote On Bonus

COMPROMISE BASIS FOR SETTLEMENT OF WATER DISPUTE ANNOUNCED

IS REJECTED BY SENATOR

Declares Patman Bill Advocates Will Not Yield in Heated Battle

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 9. — (UP)—Patman bonus forces carried their battle to the country today, urging the people to flood the White House with 1,000,000 telegrams requesting approval of the inflationary measure.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—The leader of the Patman bonus forces in the senate, Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., refused today to accept any of the compromises which have been advanced as a possible means of obtaining votes to override a veto.

While Thomas previously had said that if the Patman currency-jssue bill could not be enacted, he would take the next best thing, he asserted today:

"Once the Patman advocates start yielding, the bonus fight is lost."

His remarks appeared to indicate Thomas was determined to battle further for the votes needed to override a veto of the Patman bill.

President Roosevelt today asked Gen. Frank T. Hines of the veterans' bureau, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau Jr., and other aids to confer with him in a discussion expected to center around his intended veto of the Patman bill.

Thomas' stand against any bonus compromise was strengthened by a similar statement issued by Sen. Huey P. Long after conferring with Thomas, Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., and others of the Patman group.

"We have decided there will be no compromise," Long said. "We have decided to stand where we are and take the chances of overriding a presidential veto."

Thomas reiterated that he could not consent "at this time" to modification of the bill. However, he insisted two maneuvers which would open it to amendment in the event the senate agreed to reconsider the vote by which it passed.

He entered motions to reconsider the votes by which the Patman plan was substituted for the Vinson-American Legion bill and by which the Patman measure was endorsed for passage.

"I have taken these steps for protection," he explained. "I have laid the foundation for modification, but at the present I have no idea of a compromise."

LATE FLASHES
WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—Sen. George W. Norris, D., Neb., on the floor of the senate late today charged Sen. Warren R. Austin, R., Vt., with "unethical conduct."

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—The house on a roll call vote today defeated a Republican motion to cut out the vital sections of the banking bill giving the federal government control of the federal reserve system's monetary and credit powers.

Final passage was expected shortly.

NAVAL BUDGET GETS APPROVAL IN COMMITTEE

Senate Group Favors Setting Aside 100 Million for New Warships

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—The senate appropriations committee approved today the $459,606,846 naval budget, setting aside $100,000,000 for construction of 24 warships.

The bill passed the house. The committee recommended a direct expenditure of $88,310,000 for new ship construction and an authorization for the navy department to use an additional $11,690,000 from funds remaining in its appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The $100,000,000 will permit building of two cruisers, one aircraft carrier, 15 destroyers and six submarines which were authorized in the Vinson-Trammell treaty navy bill approved in the last session.

Admiral Emory S. Land, chief of construction, informed the committee that the department would advertise for bids as soon as the bill became law.

He estimated contract awards would be made "during July, and we would then proceed as rapidly as possible with the construction of these vessels."

The committee added $1,801,535 to the appropriation which passed the house April 25. The increases included $748,597 for pay of enlisted men.

ROOSEVELT GETS 200 DIME LETTERS
WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—Faith, hope and charity mean nothing to President Roosevelt when they involve send-a-dime chain letters.

More than 200 hopeful Americans have sent such letters to the president with the plea that he continue the chain and thus garner for himself some $1500 in dimes. The president kept the letters until the pile became unwieldy and then sent them, numbering about 200, to the postoffice department for investigation.

Postoffice officials said there was little they could do about the particular letters sent the White House. Had there been evidence of fraud on a large scale the department could have prosecuted the senders.

"But most of these letters simply were sent by people ignorant enough to believe that Mr. Roosevelt would keep the chain growing," said John J. Gregory of the post office solicitor's office.

DR. TOWNSEND FLAYS ENEMIES IN COLORADO
DENVER, Colo., May 9.—(UP)—Dissension in the ranks of Townsend plan supporters was revealed today after the author of the old age pension formula came here to denounce a "rebel" faction.

A mass meeting addressed by Dr. F. E. Townsend of Long Beach, Calif., ended in a near riot last night when leaders of the rebels demanded permission to speak.

Meanwhile Frank Peterson, former national publicity director for the Townsend organization but now one of the dissidents, sought to wrest from the elderly physician control of the Colorado state organization.

On April 29, Joseph A. Gross, state manager, and his followers broke away from the national organization and announced intention to form a separate state unit to battle for the old age pension plan.

At the meeting last night before 2000 old people who crowded East Denver high school's auditorium to capacity, Dr. Townsend lashed those who broke away.

"I have no use for men who take money from national headquarters and then kill me in the back," he shouted.

"I have found men I have trusted as blood brothers turn out to be snakes in the grass," he said.

Denied Permission
When the meeting was thrown open to questions, Gross demanded to be allowed to speak.

Dr. Townsend refused. Boos and catcalls filled the air. Former State Senator Frank Arbuckle of Los Angeles rushed to the microphone and threatened to call the police.

Plain clothes men and uniformed policemen already present quieted the audience.

JURY IN PLANE CRASH UPHOLDS FIRST VERDICT

Refuses Demand of TWA Attorney That Pilot Be Absolved of Blame

MACON, Mo., May 9.—(UP)—The coroner's jury investigating the causes of the airplane crash near here Monday which took five lives, today refused to alter its verdict, as demanded by Manvel Davis, attorney for the Transcontinental and Western Air Inc., operator of the plane.

The original verdict stated the pilot, Harvey Bolton, erred in not using his running lights just before the crash. Three times last night the verdict was changed when Davis argued with the jurors and Dr. W. H. Gooch, coroner, over its wording.

Today the six-man jury met again, went into executive session friendly, and then asserted there would be no more changes.

"Our verdict of last night stands," Albert Smith said, "also, I want to say that I have interviewed Harry J. Libby, circuit judge, and he told me that it is not necessary to make any additions to the verdict as demanded by Davis."

Davis started to object. He said he wished to show where an error had been made, but Charles Fowler, another juror and a former pilot interrupted him.

"I object to Davis continually trying to place statements in the record," he said. "This has become a one-man show with the TWA running it, and until the state is represented here by its legal officers I object to Mr. Davis having any more to say."

Nevertheless, the jury decided to meet again later in the day for possible further consideration of the case. No additional witnesses will be heard, however.

A second investigation will start this afternoon, when Major R. W. Schroeder, chief air line inspector, and Dennis Mulligan, chief of the enforcement section, both attached to the department of commerce, start taking evidence.

The men are flying from Kansas City and several district inspectors, who were on the accident scene early, are coming by airplane. Major Schroeder sent word he and Mulligan hoped to interview survivors still in the hospital here.

The condition of Paul Wing, motion picture executive, was somewhat improved this afternoon. Earlier all hope for his recovery had been abandoned by physicians, but in the forenoon he rallied slightly. His chest was crushed.

BANK BANDITS GET $15,675 IN LOOT
WORCESTER, Mass., May 9.—(UP)—Three bandits, who acted as if they had rehearsed their roles, raided the Greenleaf branch of the Worcester county institution for savings today and escaped with $15,675, mostly in cash.

Two of the robbers brandished sawed-off shotguns and the third carried a pistol. They harvested $14,450 in cash, $1000 in stocks, and a $225 diamond ring.

RAMSAY MACDONALD IN NARROW ESCAPE
LONDON, May 9.—(UP)—Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, returning to No. 10 Downing street from Westminster hall, narrowly escaped being knocked down today by a police horse.

As he walked along, smoking a cigarette, the horse began to rear and lunged toward him.

He escaped by ducking and dodging.

Board Talks Of Plans To Build Canal

Orange County to Ask for Normal Flow of River With Exceptions

BASIS FOR negotiations looking to a settlement between Orange county and upper river counties on the amount of water which should be allowed to flow down the Santa Ana river into Orange county was made public for the first time by the directors of the Orange County Water District at a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in Garden Grove.

The Orange County Water District has asked that the entire normal flow of the Santa Ana river be allowed to come into this county with the exception of the amount of water to which upper counties' water interests have vested rights, it was announced.

The main problem which the local board has to work out with the upper counties now is to what extent the rights of the upper counties are to be recognized. This eventually will be established by an agreement which would be made into a stipulated court judgment, or settled in a court suit to determine rights up and down the river. The local board will use data assembled by the Irvine company in a court fight against spreading operations in the upper river in the negotiations with the upper river interests.

New Phase Injected
Attorney A. W. Rutan injected a new phase into the negotiation proceedings yesterday when he outlined details of a new amendment to the state water commission act. Formerly the state water commission, he said, could only investigate and pass on appropriations of water.

The commission would be given the right to initiate investigations and to file factual findings which could be used by the Orange County Water District as a basis of negotiation and as evidence in a court suit to protect the rights of Orange county. Attorney Rutan explained that the investigation of water rights up and down the Santa Ana river could be investigated by the state commission and the expense prorated among the various water interests involved. This would save the Orange County Water District considerable money, he said, because if the district made the investigation the costs would be tremendous.

Aid Reclamation
The directors discussed the possibility of extending further financial aid to the sewage reclamation project in Santa Ana, and seemed to favor appropriating more funds for the project if a definite budget of costs for the balance of the year can be set up.

Director William Wallop reported that spreading operations along the Santa Ana river in Orange county has resulted in a rising of the water level in wells in part of the county.

Directors informally discussed the necessity for furthering the plan to build a canal from Riverside Narrows down to Orange county to save about 17,000 acre feet of water annually which now is said to be "lost" through evaporation and transpiration.

POLICE UNIFORMS USED BY BANDITS
CHICAGO, May 9.—(UP)—Five men, three of them dressed as police officers, held up the Edison Electric Appliance company today and escaped with $3800 in a car with "police" lettered on the door.

The three bandits garbed as police entered the office and asked: "Who reported a holdup here?" Before the employees could answer, the bandits disarmed them, snatched a $3800 payroll from Mary Monihan, cashier, and fled to the waiting car.

The Edison company guards were standing at the entrance to the office when the "squad car" pulled up.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOOTS SELF

Max Baer, heavyweight champion, and Peg La Centra are members of the cast in his radio skit. It was at a rehearsal of this program that Baer accidentally shot himself over the heart with a blank cartridge this afternoon. His condition was said to be not serious.

MAX BAER SHOOTS HIMSELF ACCIDENTALLY OVER HEART IN REHEARSAL; OPERATED ON

ASBURY PARK, N. J., May 9.—(UP)—Maxie Baer, world heavyweight champion, shot himself accidentally over the heart today with a sound effect blank cartridge at the Berkeley Carteret hotel and was taken to the Hazard hospital at West Long Branch, nearby.

He was immediately taken to playing with the gun when it went the operating room, although it off, "Gee—that burned me," the superficial, Baer did not fail to the floor or faint. About nine members of the radio skit cast were in the rehearsal room at the time, Anell Hoffman, his manager, immediately suggested calling a doctor, but one just brought to the rehearsal rooms at the hotel today.

PEACE PLEA S MARINE UNION MADE BY KING PLANS VOTE ON IN PARLIAMENT COAST STRIKE

LONDON, May 9.—(UP)—King George V., his lords spiritual and temporal, and members of the House of Commons exchanged congratulations today that in a world shaken by revolution the British Empire stands firm as its rock of Gibraltar.

The King and Queen, again to the cheers of tens of thousands of people, rode in state procession of Westminster hall, ancient banqueting chamber of the palace of Westminster—the hall of parliament—to receive congratulations of the lords and commons and the high court judges on the king's 25th anniversary as a monarch.

They rode past the window, in Whitehall, in front of which, 284 years ago, Charles I was beheaded by the victorious Cromwellians.

VETERANS OF COUNTY WILL RECEIVE $3,000,000 SHOULD F. D. R. SIGN BONUS MEASURE

BETWEEN TWO and a half and three million dollars would be paid out to veterans of the World War living in Orange county should the Patman bill to pay off the soldier bonus with a $2,200,000,000 issue of greenbacks be signed by President Roosevelt, it was estimated today by Harry Edwards, Orange county veteran welfare officer.

This huge amount of money, Senator Hiram Johnson, who opposed the bonus measure, asking the senator to support the plan. Letters written on business stationery would be effective in showing the senator that merchants favor the payment of the bonus, he declared.

The senate has passed the Patman bill now, and the house passed the measure earlier in the session of Congress. The bill now will go to the White House, where a presidential veto is expected.

LEAVE FIELD AT HONOLULU EARLY TODAY

Hop Off From Wheeler Field for Midway Island, 1200 Miles

HONOLULU, T. H. May 9. — A great naval aviation mass flight—part of the current fleet maneuvers—started at 7:20 a. m. (Honolulu time) today when the first of 42 planes took off for the Midway island.

The aviation part of the war games on the Pacific ocean called for participation of 42 planes in a 1200 mile trip to tiny Midway island, and return. Two hundred officers and men were aboard the planes in units of from four to 10 men per plane.

The takeoff of the planes from Wheeler field was kept as secretive as possible. Officers here took their cue from high officers of the fleet and surrounded the leave-taking with almost wartime mystery. As propellers spun to warm up engines, all spectators were barred from the field.

The aviation phase of "Problem 16," the present mimic war game, is the most pretentious mass flight ever undertaken by any aviation unit.

The battle fleet left San Francisco Saturday to cruise a huge expanse of ocean. A tight censorship was maintained and reporters aboard the flagship Pennsylvania were not permitted to radio progress of the problem.

Five of the planes were aloft at 7:28 a. m. It was apparent that they were taking off at two-minute intervals. It was estimated that the mass flight will be underway definitely an hour after the first take-off.

Twenty planes were in the air at 8:20 a. m. Four more had joined those aloft 15 minutes later. The weather was clear. The lack of wind and heavy loads made takeoffs difficult for some of the heavier planes.

The light, fast planes, took off with ease and skirted through the smoke screen toward the sea. The tails of the planes were painted various colors in order to simplify identification of the squadrons engaged. To ground observers, the planes appeared new and many of them were the same type as the squadron which flew from California to Honolulu several months ago.

Shortly after 8:15 a. m. the planes which took off early in the maneuver could not be seen. It was assumed they had headed toward Midway.

It was impossible to ascertain the total number making the flight. Watchers, bared from the Pearl Harbor yard, counted the planes as they soared aloft. Most of the takeoffs were accomplished smoothly.

As the planes got under way, the government weather bureau in Honolulu indicated the weather is "not ideal" in the vicinity of Midway.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 9.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Amelia streaked it from Mexico. When you take off from Mexico City you have already gained 7500 feet altitude, even before you get your feet off the ground. When you take a fast ship loaded with 400 gallons of gas off that field, you are an aviator, be you man or woman. I bet you Amelia is the only woman that in any way envy. If she could fly like her. Mondays she would speak to the French in Paris, Tuesdays the Female Comrades' Club in Moscow, Wednesday to the Tokio Women's Club, next morning the Whalers in the Behring Sea, New Orleans that night to address the anti-Long society.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

of commons, represented the lower branch of parliament.

Significant of the note that has been struck during the first days of the three months' jubilee celebration, all the speeches emphasized that Britain's crown is secure.

Peace, too, was emphasized, particularly by the king.

To the loyal addresses of the members of his parliament, he responded:

"In these days when fear and preparation for war are again astir in the world, let us be thankful that quiet government and peace prevail over so large a part of the earth's surface, that under our flag of freedom so many millions eat their daily bread in far distant lands and climates with none to make them afraid."

He referred to the Palace of Westminster as the very cradle of "our envied parliamentary institutions."

"Here," he commented, "is the anvil on which our common law was forged, to become the joint inheritance of the United States and our own community of peoples."

"I pray we may continue to pursue the cause of freedom and progress in a spirit of peace, tolerance and understanding."

The Lord Chancellor, in his speech, said:

"Elsewhere thrones and constitutions have failed to last out the strain. Yet in this realm, the development of public rights and liberties has not been arrested but made more wide, more sure."

PRESIDENT READY TO WELCOME BYRD

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—

While Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his men stalled for time so they wouldn't arrive in Washington before their official welcome, President Roosevelt today prepared to greet the antarctic party.

Mr. Roosevelt signed two congressional resolutions today, one authorizing a committee of welcome and the other thanking Byrd on behalf of the nation for his achievements.

RAIL LINE AND ROAD BLOCKED AFTER ACCIDENT

A heavy fertilizer truck was wrecked, two men were slightly injured, and the tender of a railway locomotive was derailed late yesterday afternoon when a Southern Pacific locomotive backed into the truck at Stanton while traversing the branch rail line to Los Alamitos.

Paul Williamson of 330 South Glassell street, Orange, driver of the truck, and his companion, Earl Hanley of R.F.D. No. 3, Orange, escaped death by a miracle as the cab of the vehicle was twisted and crushed. The heavily loaded truck and trailer owned by H. E. Krueger of Anaheim, did not overturn.

As the locomotive, with caboose attached, came to a stop, it blocked the highway, and a wrecking crew worked until 1:30 o'clock this morning to repair the track and enable the engine to proceed.

Williamson was given first aid treatment at St. Joseph's hospital for cuts and bruises and removed to his home. Hanley, also suffering from cuts and bruises, was being treated today at St. Joseph's.

H. E. Inge of the California Highway Patrol investigated the accident and directed traffic pending clearing of the highway.

Supervisors Seek SERRA Assistance For Memorial Hall

A project to construct a Memorial hall in Buena Park was submitted to the Orange county SERRA today, sponsored by the board of supervisors.

The project asks SERRA to contribute $6547 to pay the costs of labor, while the sponsors are to pay $4784. Twenty men would be employed on the project.

It was reported that the board of supervisors had appropriated $4000 out of the $4784 to be paid by the sponsors, from the county veterans' building fund. The Buena Park Legion post is interested in the project.

INSINGER VICTOR IN ASCOT CLASSIC

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—(UP)—

Harris Insinger, youthful Los Angeles driver, was victor of the 50-lap main event on last night's opening program of auto racing at Ascot speedway.

Insinger took the lead at the start, favored with the pole position and remained in front through the race. His time was 23:13.8.

Hal Cole was second, Mike McGurk third, and George Connors fourth.

Insinger also won a two-lap helmet race defeating Connors. Lane Curry won the 10-lap consolation dash.

a paid national organizer and then came back here and spread falsehoods and innuendoes and stated he was going to start his own movement. I don't want to talk to a man of that sort at all."

Townsend was called the "third great liberator of the nation" by Arbutick. Washington was first, Lincoln second, he said in introducing the Californian.

The administration's policy of "plowing under cotton" and "giving hypodermic injections to business" was attacked by Arbutick.

Townsend said he had changed his registration from Democratic to Republican. An outburst of handclapping and cheering greeted the statement.

Pleads for Unity
The white-haired physician pleaded for unity and harmony. If state organizations broke away, he said, the movement would disintegrate and the goal of $200 a month for all over 60 would never be attained.

He begged for confidence and denied insinuations that either he or R. C. Clements, national secretary and termed by rebels "the power behind the throne," had made personal profit from the movement.

"Do you believe I would take your money or countenance anyone who would," he said.

Dr. Townsend promised his listeners that congressmen would return home this summer to find irresistible pressure forcing them to pass the Townsend act when congress reconvenes in January.

After the meeting, in an interview with the United Press, Frank Peterson, rebel chieftain, charged that Dr. Townsend and R. E. Clements are making over $2000 a month from the "Townsend Weekly," which is the national organ of the movement.

Hurls Charges
"Townsend and Clements are lining their pockets at the expense of the old people," he said. "They made just enough of a showing in Washington to come back and ask for more money."

Gross declared all of Dr. Townsend's insinuations and charges against him were false. He promised to take to the radio and refute them.

Dr. Townsend outlined plans for an organization covering every congressional district with state and regional managers and a "trusteeship" composed of the state manager of each of the 48 states.

"Educational schools" in each precinct would be established to "take the stench and nausea out of politics."

The Townsend movement must have its own radio system he told his listeners.

Dr. Townsend will speak in Colorado Springs tonight.

MARINE UNION PLANS VOTE ON COAST STRIKE

the face of scattered acts of violence attributed to strikers.

The marine federation's 26 unions, representing a membership of 35,000 waterfront and marine craftsmen, were believed virtually certain to vote in favor of a walk-out.

Federation representatives already have declared the federation "100 per cent" in favor of the strike. The sentiment was echoed by Harry Bridges, militant leader of the International Longshoremen's association and leading power in last summer's coastwide marine strike.

The I. L. A. group, at a Portland sectional convention, voted support to the Pacific northwest lumber strike, refusing to handle lumber milled by non-union workers unaffiliated with the sawmill and timber worker's union, whose members walked out at that time.

Washington and Oregon mills, demanding increased wages, a 30-hour week and other concessions from employers.

"Machinery for the ballot already has been set up," Kelley said in revealing plans for the general strike referendum.

more speedy treatment if taken to the hospital.

The champion was rehearsing in a series of broadcasts leading up to his championship fight in New York next month with Jim Braddock.

He was cast as a detective in the broadcasts, the first of which was last Monday night. The next was set for 10:30 p. m. next Monday, and once a week thereafter until the fight under the auspices of a razor company.

"We had brought in this new gun because the other one, which we had been using in the skit was too small and made a sound like a cap pistol over the radio," Singon explained. "The one was larger and made more noise."

Out of the welter of discussion which followed the accident came claims that Baer did not shoot himself, but that the gun went off while in the hands of Singon. Singon denied this emphatically, claiming the gun was discharged as he entered the room.

Baer was taken from the hospital shortly before 6 p. m. and ordered to bed at his training quarters.

Physicians said they would remain with the champion through the night. They said they could not tell his condition at present.

Baer was ordered to have "complete rest and quiet."

RADIO PRIEST TO MOVE ON NEW YORK

CLEVELAND, O., May 9.—(UP)—

With Michigan and Ohio already organized into his union for social justice, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin planned today to take in New York City next. He will hold a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden May 22 to extend the influence of his "people's lobby."

In a speech bitterly assailing the banking system and bankers, the priest last night led an audience of 30,000 in a mass boing of Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, D. Ohio, in outlining the purposes of his union, he said it would be made "stronger than any president."

Loser In Damage Suit Files Notice For New Trial

A new trial will be asked by the defense it was learned today, in the case of Miyoko Kamei, 11-year-old Japanese girl, who recently won a damage award of $6375 against John Portwood, of Fullerton, as the result of an accident in Buena Park, where the child was struck by Portwood's car, resulting in the loss of her left leg.

Portwood's counsel today filed in superior court a notice of intention to move for a new trial, on various technical grounds, including asserted error in the proceedings of the court, misconduct of the jury, insufficiency of the evidence to support the verdict, and discovery of new evidence.

HAMILTON DENIED CLEMENCY
HUNTSVILLE, Texas, May 9.—(UP)—Unless Raymond Hamilton can make good his boast that "there is not a prison in the country that can hold me" he will die early tomorrow in the electric chair.

Gov. James V. Allred at Austin today refused to grant clemency to the southwest's No. 1 public enemy who is condemned in the slaying of Major Crowson, a prison guard killed in one of Hamilton's numerous prison breaks.

The governor also refused to interfere with the execution of Joe Palmer, who like Hamilton, was convicted of murder in the guard's death during the break from Eastham state prison farm Jan. 16, 1934.

BIG BUSINESS SWINGS AWAY FROM PRESIDENT AS LABOR COMES CLOSER TO NEW DEAL

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—Big business has swung steadily away from President Roosevelt in the past six months and labor is coming closer to the New Deal.

Both labor and business are beginning to find the positions they will occupy in the 1936 presidential campaign. Political observers expect these trends to continue.

Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee says: "We never had the support of big business, or at best it was only passive. We will depend next election on the masses."

Movements of the American Bankers association and the United States chamber of commerce chart the trend of big money away from Mr. Roosevelt. The bankers met here in convention last October, suppressed their anxiety over new deal policies and went through the motions of a reconciliation with Mr. Roosevelt.

Bankers have their backs to the wall now in a fight against the new deal central bank bill which would deprive private bankers of control over credit.

But White House legislative plans proved to be more radical than anything expected of congress except on currency inflation and the bonus. Mr. Roosevelt jotted big business and banks with bills for social security, abolition of "unnecessary" utility holding companies, extension of AAA authority over private business, creation of a political central bank and similar measures.

Congress is more conservative than the president on some of this legislation.

GOVERNMENT CUTS SILVER PURCHASES

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—

A substantial curtailment of the government's silver purchase program during April, presumably because of sharp price increases, was shown by official figures today.

Department of commerce figures showed that silver imports in April fell to $11,002,169, from $20,413,988 in March.

Included in the April imports were 15,005,559 ounces of refined bullion, valued at $9,141,888 or approximately 60 cents an ounce, it was believed that the treasury in carrying out the silver purchase program was the principal importer of the refined metal.

HOSPITAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED NEXT SUNDAY

Hundreds of children whose first cries were heard at St. Joseph's hospital will be brought together for laughter and merriment Sunday afternoon, May 12, when the fifth annual observance of hospital day will be held. Sisters of St. Joseph's Fullerton hospital, with its list of mothers and babies, will join in the celebration.

Each year the guest list grows, as the hospital extends general invitations to all mothers and babies who have known its shelter. Special interest attaches to this year's observance, which falls on Mother's day.

Beginning at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, guests will be greeted. Refreshments will be served by the Sisters of St. Joseph. The lawn, and the buildings as well will be setting for the event, which promises an opportunity for renewal of friendships on the part of both children and mothers.

Other hospitals in the county will observe hospital day with open house Sunday afternoon. Cottage hospital, 600 North Spadara road, Fullerton, will provide an operating room feature for laymen. Orange County hospital has no special celebration of hospital day, but announces that its doors are always open for public inspection.

DENIES CONVICT CAR GARSTANG STATEMENT ON PRESS COOPERATIVES PAROLE BOARD

Denial that statements had been made before the recent state convention of county supervisors, in Sacramento, classifying members of cooperatives engaged in manufacturing goods for use, in the same category as convict labor, was made today by Supervisor W. C. Jerome, of Santa Ana, who was among those in attendance at the convention, and who made reply to such a charge just received by the Orange county board of supervisors from J. J. Quinn, president of the California Cooperative Unions.

The matter apparently referred to by the cooperatives head, said Jerome, was a casual mention of cooperative goods made in a conference between the welfare committee of the state association of supervisors, and Frank Y. Laughlin, state relief director, when Laughlin discussed with the committee the question of counties purchasing goods manufactured by the cooperatives. This conference was held in San Francisco some time after the convention in Sacramento.

No comparison was made between cooperative members and convicts, said Jerome, but the committee told Laughlin that it would be opposed to purchase of cooperative goods by the counties, because such goods would be in the same relation to the market as goods manufactured in San Quentin by convict labor, both being subsidized by government money, which thus would come into direct competition with private industry.

"There was nothing said," declared Jerome, "that would in any way reflect upon the cooperatives at attempt to place their members in the same category with convicts. The statement related merely to the economics of the purchase by public bodies of goods made by people or institutions subsidized by public funds."

SAYS SPIRITUAL PROSPERITY IS NEEDED TODAY

"What we need is not dime chain letter prosperity, but spiritual prosperity," stated Mrs. A. Leroy Grimm of Fullerton in giving one of the closing addresses of the morning session at the annual Woman's Home Missionary society of San Diego district Methodist churches convening today in Santa Ana Methodist church.

One hundred and twenty-five delegates were in attendance, with Calexico or Escondido delegations expected to receive the $5.00 award for the auxiliary traveling the greatest number of miles to answer to roll call. Presentation of the award was scheduled for late afternoon.

Mrs. C. R. Montague of Fullerton, district president, was presiding officer. Mrs. R. R. Lutes, president of Women's Home Missionary society of the local church, was official hostess.

"The Good Ship Women's Home Missionary society nearing port" was the convention theme. Mrs. H. C. Chapman, conference recording secretary, opened the meeting with prayer. Talks during the morning were given by district officers including Mrs. S. E. Fitz, Garden Grove; Mrs. Ruby Jones, San Diego; Miss James Aldrich, Arizona; Mrs. M. A. Contas, Imperial county; Mrs. N. H. Button, San Diego county; Mrs. W. B. Nuckols, Orange county; Mrs. George A. Warner sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Snow.

Mrs. J. A. Bodman, Miss Jeanette Bodman, Miss Lulu Thornburg and Dr. George A. Warner gave closing talks of the morning session. With election of officers scheduled for the early afternoon, it was expected that many Santa Ana women would join the delegates for the session following luncheon.

Scheduled for afternoon were a playlet by the Anaheim auxiliary; a talk by Mrs. A. G. Scudder, Bureau secretary; a talk, "The Home Port" by Mrs. B. McCormick, Conference corresponding secretary; installation of officers presentation of the $5.00 award; vocal solos by Lynwood Young. Mrs. J. W. McCormack of this city was in charge of music for the day.

WATER BOARD TO PROTEST EXPORTATION OF WATER FROM COUNTY DISTRICT

Attorney A. W. Rutan was authorized by directors of the Orange County Water District yesterday afternoon to draw up a resolution serving notice on the Laguna Beach Water District that it is not legal for them to continue to furnish water to Coast Royal as the beach district has been doing under a temporary agreement.

While the amount of water district felt that something definite should be done about the situation, inasmuch as the district was formed to prevent exportation of water from the district as one of the basic reasons for organization.

It was suggested that Coast Royal, which Director Frank Champlain said has an assessed valuation of about a half million dollars, could come into the water district and help share the expenses of the district. If any objections to Coast Royal coming into the district were encountered, a district election on the matter would have to be held.

Action on the matter is expected at the next meeting.

BREAKFASTERS VETS' SURGEON MAKING PLANS GENERAL GUEST FOR BARBECUE OF S. A. POST

Plans were laid this morning at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club for the club barbecue to be held Friday, May 17, at the ranch home of Ed Hall, club president, on East Fourth street. The barbecue will be held in place of the regular Thursday meeting next week.

Appointed on the committee to handle the event were Hunter Leach, chairman of the food committee, to be assisted by Ed Farnsworth and Hall. Milan Miller will arrange entertainment features for the meeting.

Ed Lentz was program chairman for this morning's meeting, introducing Verne Harrison, who played several piano solos. Plans were laid for the meeting on May 30, which will be the last before the club disbands for the summer. The Orange county board of supervisors will be invited to attend this meeting, at which the Orange County Students orchestra will play. This orchestra, which includes musicians between the ages of 10 and 20, has accepted an invitation to represent the county by playing at the exposition to be held this summer in San Diego.

As officers reconstructed the crime today, they believe that Donnelly had rifled the cash register, and changed license plates on the two cars between 11:30 and 12 last night, and had driven the Boggs car to Eighth and Bush and left it pending his getaway.

When he drove Mrs. McCormack's car from the garage at midnight, he exchanged it for the Boggs machine and escaped.

And today Dick Donnelly was being sought by all police officers in the southwestern states, with teletype, radio, and every modern means of identification and apprehension at their disposal.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of kidney tubes which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 8 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

FAMILY FEUD BREAKS INTO FIST BATTLE

As the aftermath of a Reno divorce case and bad feeling among members of the family, two Buena Park brothers, E. C. Snow and Clyde Snow, today stood charged with a felony, assault by force and means likely to produce bodily injury.

The two brothers surrendered in Anaheim justice court this morning and were released upon $500 bail each by Justice Charles Kuchel.

The complaint against them was signed by J. E. Hilton, of Buena Park, who charges that he and his son were attacked with fists yesterday morning and that his son, Otto Hilton, received a broken nose in the encounter, inflicted by a heavy box carrying tray.

The alleged beating occurred in a berry patch in the Buena Park district when Hilton and his family were picking berries near the Snow home, according to Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey and James Workman who investigated the case.

The altercation, ending with blows, was the culmination of a family feud, the officers were told, resulting when the daughter of Hilton secured a Reno divorce several months ago from one of the Snow brothers.

HOLLOW VICTORY WON BY NAVARROS

Adolph Navarro 15, and his father, Rafael Navarro, won an empty legal victory over E. E. Dieckman in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court last night when they decided the damage suits involved, by finding in favor of the Navarros, but awarding no damages. The jury deliberated from 3:50 p. m. to 10:40 p. m. before reaching its verdict.

The litigation resulted from an automobile crash near La Habra last December 31. The younger Navarro asked $20,000 damages and his father sued for $5433.50. In a cross-complaint, Dieckman asked $10,677.20 damages.

The high official was urged by Commander Glen Hendrickson of the local VFW post to stay over for a county council meeting of the VFW in Orange last night, but he was unable to do so.

Discussion at the county council meeting concerned mainly details of the Bakersfield convention in June, which will be attended by VFW delegates from Orange county. Plans were discussed for a county-wide VFW picnic to be held in July.

Grover L. Walters, of Fullerton, county council commander, presided at the meeting last night.

ESTABLISHMENT OF MAJOR NAVAL BASES ON WEST COAST URGED BY RETIRED NAVY MAN

Transfer of the naval war college from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast and establishment of a sufficient number of major naval bases on the Pacific coast to adequately service the combined strength of the American fleet under all conditions, including the construction of capital ships and auxiliary craft, was urged by Commander Joseph F. Daniels, U. S. Navy, retired, in an address delivered last night before the Orange County Peace Officers Association at a monthly dinner meeting at the Laguna Beach American Legion hall.

Commander Daniels served as aide to former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels and also on the staff of Admiral Sims during the World war. His recommendations for better service facilities on the Pacific coast, the naval officer declared, are in harmony with the thought of high ranking officers charged with the maintenance of the navy and deemed as an imperative necessity in order to insure the protection of the fleet in time of war as well as to maintain its fighting efficiency.

Contrast Made
In the course of his address, Commander Daniels pointed out that while the Atlantic coast has four major naval bases and four secondary contacts, including yards for building and repairing capital ships, the Pacific coast, now deemed fully as important for defensive purposes, has but one single major naval base, located at Bremerton in the Puget sound, and a secondary base at Mare Island in San Francisco bay. Because of this lack of adequate facilities, it is necessary to send capital ships to the Atlantic coast when needing major repairs, a state of affairs that would prove rather embarrassing in the event of hostilities in Pacific waters.

Many Visitors Present

Sheriff Logan Jackson, president of the association, presided over the meeting, the attendance of which included not only regular members and their wives, but also a large number of associate members and visitors. Chief "Abe" Johnson of the Laguna Beach police department, and his officers, acted as hosts to their fellow officers. The dinner was served by the ladies of the American Legion auxiliary.

Ted Cook, nationally known writer and columnist, acted as master of ceremonies, introducing special guests and the various numbers of the entertainment program arranged for the occasion. Mayor Frank B. Champion of Laguna Beach welcomed the officers, Sheriff Jackson making the response. Appearing on the program were Professor Frank Neumann and his orchestra, Miss Helmar Forrest and Jolly Grimes.

A brief business session followed the entertainment in the course of which Herman Zabel, secretary-treasurer of the organization, read reports bearing on finance, membership and kindred matters. New members voted into the association were John Ernest Glenn, Seal Beach; E. T. Cresce, Laguna Beach; Robert M. Conkey, F. R. Dawson, David Fairbairn, Claude E. Potter, Thomas J. Kinney and John G. Ryan, deputy sheriffs. It was voted to hold the next meeting on June 5 at San Clemente.

Word was received today that Miss Ione Hooven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Hooven, of 1325 North Garvey street, has been awarded a four-year journalism scholarship offered by the University of Southern California.

Miss Hooven, who is a member of the senior class of the Santa Ana High school, was chosen for the honor from a group of 30 competitors throughout Southern California. Only one scholarship is offered each year for $1200, which is given in four annual installments of $300.

The winner, who has been taking a journalism course at the high school, has maintained a high average throughout the four years and has been a member of school honor rolls consistently. She is 17 years old.

This is the second time in two years that recognition has been given the high school journalism department by U. S. C. D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school, explained. Last year Miss Edna Wilson, senior student, was named as alternate for the award, in competition with approximately 20 Southern California high school students.

ENTRY LIST AT AUXILIARY DOG SHOW GROWING

Entry lists for the blooded dog show to be held May 18 in the Hill building are swelling rapidly, according to word received today from officials of the exhibit. The show is planned as a memorial to dogs who served in the World war, by the American Legion auxiliary, of Santa Ana.

Among the entries of fine dogs already received are Scotch Terriers owned by Z. B. West, among them the international champion, Talavera Toddlar. Another interesting exhibit will be the English bloodhound puppies entered by Von Maynard. These puppies, owned by a Japanese, will be taken to Japan in June, where they will be trained for hunting wild boar.

Among entries already received are pedigreed Pekinese, fox terriers, Boston terriers, Japanese spaniels, English pugs, chows, Cairn terriers, schnauzers, St. Bernards, Irish setters and samoyeds. No entries have as yet been received of German shepherds or cocker spaniels, and show officials are anxious that some of these breeds be entered.

Following the show for pedigreed dogs on May 18 an exhibition for unpedigreed pets will be held May 25. Children are invited to enter their pets of any kind for the latter exhibit. Entries may be made with Mrs. Ralph Hoover, 911 Oak street, or at the Neel Sporting Goods store, 209 East Fourth street.

CALAVO MEN TO GET $75,000 CASH REFUND

Money spoke a welcome language to calavo growers in Santa Ana, Tustin and vicinity as a cash refund of $75,000, part of the record total of $105,000 being received this month by the growers, was authorized today by the growers' directors of the industry's marketing cooperative. Growers will receive $75,000 this week, it was learned.

This second cash refund to be made so far this season is in addition to all regular crop proceeds, it was revealed, and represents savings achieved to date under the costs budgeted to move the record 1935 crop.

A total of 8,200,049 pounds of fruit, or all that handled this season to April 1, will receive the 15-cent-per-field-box, or the nearly one-half-cent per pound refund. The two extra disbursements of this season to date total 30 cents per field box or nearly one cent per pound.

Besides this addition to regular pool proceeds, these progressive growers have also invested the greater part of one cent per pound for advertising. This has greatly assisted in selling 5,200,000 pounds of calavos outside of Southern California so far this season.

Farm Adviser Harold Wahlberg and Agricultural Commissioner Dixon Tubbs of Orange county are among the avocado authorities who will speak at the annual growers' institute in San Diego Saturday, it was announced at the same time.

GARAGEMEN ARE GUESTS OF GEO. DUNTON AGENCY

Observing the first anniversary of the wholesale delivery of Ford automobile parts throughout Orange county by the George Dunton Ford agency of Santa Ana, Dunton entertained 125 leading garage men of the county last evening at his place of business, 810 North Main street.

In welcoming his guests, Dunton told of the inauguration of the parts service one year ago and the splendid success of the undertaking through the co-operation of garage owners in all county cities.

A. F. Lang, Ford factory representative, spoke briefly on the success of the Ford parts program in a national way.

Sound motion pictures provided both education and entertainment, with a comedy film being shown and also a picture, "Rhapsody in Steel" with appropriate music, depicting the production of Ford parts and the assembly of Ford cars at the Detroit factory of the company.

Andy Anderson acted as master of ceremonies for the entertainment program, which included several selections by the well-known Elks Double Quartet, song and dance numbers by the Goble Sisters, and violin numbers by John Stout, talented 11-year-old of Orange, accompanied by Miss Olive Schweitzer.

An interesting feature was that the violin used was made by Hart Stout, father of the violinist, who is service manager for the Mansur Ford agency at Orange.

DOUBLE BILL AT BROADWAY TODAY

Marlene Dietrich's newest picture, "The Devil Is a Woman," opens a three-day engagement at the Broadway theater today with a second feature, "Mary Jane's Pa," a comedy replete with human interest and drama which stars the popular team of Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon.

Taking the part of a factory girl who becomes one of the most glamorous and dangerous women in Europe, Miss Dietrich is said to eclipse any of her former performances in "The Devil Is a Woman." Brilliant photography and gorgeous costuming feature the film, which has a cast including Cesar Romero, Edward Everett Horton, Alison Skipworth, Don Alvarado and Morgan Wallace.

"Mary Jane's Pa" tells a richly human and sympathetic story of a printer who had the wanderlust so deeply imbedded in his nature that he forced him to desert his family, although he thought he was leaving them with enough to get along on. When he returns after an absence of a number of years, he becomes involved in a situation which is unique and which brings about a surprise climax.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By DAN THOMAS, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.—It's not every man who will admit his black eye was handed to him by his wife. Neither is it every man who will add that his wife didn't know whom she was hitting. But that's the story Francis Lister and Margot Grahame are telling, just the same.

It seems that Margot was strolling along the beach at Malibu enjoying the sunshine. Suddenly she became aware that she was being followed—and by a man who kept making cutting remarks. Her first thought was to ignore him, hoping that would discourage him. But it didn't.

So she stopped suddenly, turned around, and let go with her right, the first landing flush on the man's left eye. Then it turned out that the man was her husband, who was trying to rib her.

At least that's their story. And they won't budge from it.

You've got to hand it to Director Clarence Brown. Once he starts a thing, he does it in a big way. The script for "Anna Karenina" called for a lavish banquet scene. So Brown decided to serve a real banquet to the 125 players in the scene.

As the cameras ground, actors-waiters placed luscious roasts, stuffed ducks, geese, chickens, turkeys, sides of venison, suckling pigs, and all the complementary foodstuffs on the long table. The meal cost about $2500. And the players were permitted to eat all they wanted.

ARSON COUNT FILED AGAINST ORANGE MEN

The arrest yesterday of two Orange men on a charge of arson was cited today as another proof that setting fire to buildings in the hope of collecting insurance policies is a dangerous proposition, and likely to lead to entanglements with the law.

The men, arrested by Fire Marshal Elmer Gates and Deputy Sheriff James Ragan, are Juan Garcia, 35, of 185 North Cypress street, Orange, and Librado Alonzo, 31, of 562 North Grand street, Orange.

Garcia and Alonzo, it is charged, sought to collect on a $500 fire insurance policy by setting fire to a house at Sixteenth street and Verano road, west of Santa Ana, which they jointly owned. The building burned to the ground on April 22 about 10 p. m.

The investigating officers claim they found oil stains upon boards in the house which had not been burned, and that Garcia confessed there were oil-soaked rags about the house which became ignited when he struck a match. The house, it was said, was built two years ago and had not been occupied.

PASTOR TO DO MISSION WORK IN PALESTINE

Announcement was made to the press today by the Rev. T. R. Jackman of the resignation of the Rev. and Mrs. Jackman from the pastorate of the local Foursquare church to take effect next Sunday. The Jackmans had returned to Santa Ana to fill the unexpired term of the Rev. N. D. Meyers, former pastor. The Rev. Mr. Jackman stated that their plans were to devote their time to study and research in preparation for their leaving for Palestine to establish there "The Palestine Bible and Gospel Tract Society." The Jackmans have been to Palestine, and while there studied the programs of the various mission stations and are persuaded, they stated, that the type of work they plan to do is much needed.

Their plan calls for the distribution of Prophetic Tracts so that all of Palestine will be thoroughly and efficiently covered. The Rev. Mr. Jackman states that his work is to be exclusively among the Jews, as there is so much national prejudice and hatred. Other missions he states carry on a combined work among Arabs as well as Jews, consequently they do very little with the Jews. He believes, he said, that Palestine has a very bright future, yet believes that the Zionist Jews are soon going to have a time of great trouble, spoken of in the Bible as "The Great Tribulation."

"The literature we are to distribute," stated the Rev. Mr. Jackman, "is to be in several languages, namely, Hebrew, French, German, Russian and English. This of course will necessitate a great deal of study and preparation before our leaving."

The Rev. Mr. Jackman will preach next Sunday morning on: "The Jew, His Past, Present, and Future." Mrs. Jackman will speak in the evening, bringing a "Mother's Day" sermon on: "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle Rules the World." This message will be preceded by an illustrated song. Announcement concerning the new pastors will be made later.

Twelve Rules Are Given For Saving Tires

"It is a conservative statement that the tire bill of the American public could be reduced 25 per cent, and all worn-out tires in use discarded, if the nation's automobile drivers would observe a dozen rules for taking care of their tires," it was declared today by Orval Lyon, local Goodrich tire dealer.

"There are two major causes for tire failure, running on a tire after it is too old or badly worn to be safe, and abuse, which may be unintentional and unrecognized, but abuse, nevertheless," said Lyon.

"Our factory engineers frequently go to a rubber reclamation plant—the burial grounds of the nation's tires after their owners throw them away, and spend a busy week examining just as many tires as possible to determine what brought them to the end of their usefulness. The proportion which shows unmistakable evidence of abuse is amazing."

"By taking these 12 precautions, motorists can reduce tire bills anywhere from 25 to 50 per cent, depending upon how careful they already are, as well as decreasing the chances of tire failure and possible accident. The rules are:

- (1) Maintain the recommended or rated air pressure at all times;
- (2) check new tires and newly mounted tires more often; (3) shift your tires from wheel to wheel;
- (4) keep good tires on the rear as well as front; (5) slow down for corners; (6) brake gently; (7) keep wheels in alignment; (8) inspect tires occasionally; (9) do not drive too fast on hot, dry roads; (10) start up gently, do not spin your wheels; (11) keep away from curbs and sharp bumps; (12) inspect all tires when your car steers queerly.

"If you follow these simple rules, which will cost little in time or money, you will save money because you will find you have to buy fewer tires. And if, per chance, you do not care about the economies, then observe these dozen simple rules for the sake of your life and the safety of others."

TELLS SERVICE CLUB OF NEW ARCHITECTURE

NEWPORT BEACH, May 9.—Illuminated architecture was graphically explained to members of the Newport Harbor Service club at their regular meeting yesterday by F. W. Loomis, Los Angeles, president of Luminous Structures, Inc. Loomis was in charge of many other spectacular lighting effects used in the Chicago World's fair.

His subject was illustrated by many colored slides depicting what is being done and what has been done in the past in the use of lighting in the modernization of building and building methods. Examples were chosen from Europe and America.

"Light, which was first used as an advertising display medium on building fronts," the speaker said, "is rapidly becoming an integral part of modern architecture, and will be indistinguishable from the architecture of the future." As a finale to the talk, Loomis showed conceptions of the "city of the future."

Officers of the Service club will be elected at the next meeting of the group, May 15. It was announced. A nominating committee consisting of Walter Spicer, Sidney Davidson, Dr. H. M. Grundy, A. J. Twist and J. D. Watkins was appointed, and will present a list of candidates at the next meeting.

Visitors at the meeting were J. J. Phelps, J. Baker, Balboa, and Eugene B. Kruger, Santa Ana.

QUEEN LILIOUKALANI of Hawaii had sought to restore absolute monarchy over those Pacific islands that now are part of the United States, but she made her big mistake when she also tried to disfranchise all foreigners.

For Americans had tasted of the delicious pineapple of Hawaii, and the late Sanford B. Dole, native of the islands, had begun to look toward the rise of a trade that was destined to make his name the pineapple standard of America.

So Dole led the revolution against "Queen Lili" and became president of the first and only republic of Hawaii. When the islands were annexed in 1900, he became their first territorial governor. He is remembered in stamp lore by the Hawaiian Republic's 25-cent issue of 1893.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By VERA RAMSEY

From the dense jungles of Ceylon and Sumatra, from the green creeper-twisted forests of Malaya, Frank Buck returns with another and wilder cargo of true tales from the East. In "Fang and Claw" he tells these tales to us. In a few of these stories, Mr. Buck describes his animals for the human race. "Years and Years" tells a strange tale of two lovers who refute Kipling's dictum about the meeting of East and West. Thousands of readers of "Wild Cargo" and "Bring 'Em Back Alive" who have come to know and love Lal Bahuda, Frank Buck's No. 1 boy, will read with interest the pathetic and beautiful "Story of Lal."

Most of all the book is filled with the color and thrill which are the lot of the collector of wild animals. Here is the strange story of the Tooth of Buddha in which the fate of the strongest and fiercest elephant that ever lived is mingled with that of a wizen Mahout who weighed less than one hundred pounds. Here you will read the true account of the famous fight which Frank Buck filmed for "Wild Cargo," the breath-taking struggle between a python and a black leopard. Perhaps the most thrilling stories are the two which deal with the capture of a clouded leopard (which is incredibly rare and difficult to catch) and of the famous giant orang which will be remembered by the millions who visited the World Fair in Chicago.

Every reader of "Wild Cargo" and "Bring 'Em Back Alive" will stretch out an eager hand for this book. Those who have made their acquaintance with Frank Buck via the receiving set will thrill to meeting him again in the pages of "Fang and Claw."

Less than 50 years ago, American surgeons made their calls dressed in long black frock coats and silk hats. They operated without removing their coats or rolling up their sleeves. Lister was a dangerous revolutionary, germs a new-fangled invention of effete Europe.

This is the background from which modern surgery sprang. In "Fifty Years a Surgeon" Dr. Robert T. Morris, one of the most distinguished physicians in America, gives an eye-witness account of surgery from 1882 to the present. It is a book of fascinating reminiscences, anecdotes and stories of unusual cases. It is a brilliant medical history recorded by a man who helped to make it.

He tells of his early days at Bellevue. He gives a memorable account of the public fear of anaesthesia. He writes of the terrific difficulty of raising enough money for hospitals to care for the increasing numbers of the sick. Equally interesting is his account of how nature works in health and disease and what surgeons do to gain and keep nature's cooperation. He also explains the special insight to nature which comes to the surgeon alone. His powerful descriptions will make you feel that you are looking over his shoulder and he performs one of his remarkable operations noted in this book.

Medical men seem to have a special gift for literature; this book will uphold their highest standard. From beginning to end it is a monumental and unforgettable record of the profession, a contribution to its history of equal interest to physicians and the general public.

Do you like to be fooled? Judging by the prevalence of fraud among us as revealed by T. Swann Harding in "The Popular Practice of Fraud," most of the population of the United States prefers to be fooled so long as the accompanying ballyhoo is entertaining. Of course we are not unique in this as Mr. Harding's valuable and amusing chapter "Historical Retrospect of Fraud" shows. Humanity has always fallen for clever charlatans.

Mr. Harding, using court decisions, medical analyses, and other highly pragmatic evidence, examines the various phases of fraud in this country. He discusses foods; drugs; cosmetics; patent medicines; stocks and bonds; textiles; real estate; gadgets of all kinds; cults, religious and otherwise; and finally America's gift to the world, advertising. The part fraud plays in undermining good business, in degrading advertising, in biasing education and in debauching commercial publishing and professional ethics is also considered. Finally private, semi-private and governmental efforts to suppress fraud or to mitigate its bad effects are examined.

This book makes no sensational effort to frighten you. But it often fills you with righteous indignation. It shows that governmental control has been intelligent and efficient within the narrow limits provided by law, and needs only a wider legal scope to end many evils. It is the sort of book that will make you, as a consumer, decide to do something about it.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

SADNESS ON HIGH—
One man was saddened more than others when the supreme court scratched out the rail workers' retirement law—the misanthropic co-ordinator of the New Deal, Mr. Donald Richberg.

You may not believe it, but Mr. Richberg wrote that law which was torn asunder unmercifully by a 5 to 4 majority of the court.

The law bore the names of Ex-Senator Dill and Representative Crosser, but they got it out of the old unimpaired Wagner bill of 1932. The Wagner bill was conceived and executed for Senator Wagner by Mr. Richberg, in association with two other labor attorneys, working for the standard railroad unions.

The secret is of more than passing importance because of Mr. Richberg's prominence in the coming NRA test case before the court and his activity in the drafting of NRA legislation now pending in the senate. Indeed, there are many who believe that Mr. Richberg has just begun to play Quixote to the supreme court windmill.

NRA HINT—
The New Dealers are whistling in the dark in their optimistic statements about coming court decisions on NRA, TVA social security, etc.

Political bookies dropped the odds heavily on the NRA test case immediately after the rail labor decision. Few good lawyers here believe the court can uphold the NRA if it follows the reasoning adopted in the rail labor case.

One hidden line in the labor decision hints at the probable attitude of the court majority on NRA.

"The contention of the government comes very near to this—that whatever some (railroad) carriers choose to do voluntarily in the management of their business at once invests congress with the power to compel all carriers to do. The fallacy is obvious. The meaning of the commerce and due process clauses of the constitution is not so easily enlarged by the voluntary acts of individuals or corporations."

If that does not strike at the theory of the NRA, some very good lawyers here are in error.

RAY—

The only ray which keeps New Deal legal lights shining is the fact that the 5 to 4 line-up of the court is so narrow that one man can change it. Also, lawyers seem to agree the labor decision does not fundamentally injure the chances of the social security program. This program is not based on the federal jurisdiction over interstate commerce, but on the power of congress to tax. It is frankly intrastate, just as income taxes are. This is an entirely different principle, which usually has been upheld by the court.

AGE LIMIT—

Those who believe life begins at forty will be encouraged still further by the labor pension decision. It held life does not end at sixty-five.

The prize line of the majority decision was: "It does not follow, as contended, that a man of sixty-five is inefficient or incompetent. The facts indicate a contrary conclusion."

This view was subscribed to by four justices over sixty-five (Sutherland, McReynolds, Butler and Vanderventer) and one who is the baby of the court at sixty, Mr. Roberts.

CAULKING—

A free guessing contest is on among insiders about the reason why son James Roosevelt is going back to Hyde Park to attend the cows. The official explanation seems to be true as far as it goes, James has not been in good health and the estate needs managing.

The favored supplemental guess, however, is that his business activities were embarrassing to the White House. No relative of a president can be in business without causing embarrassment. No matter how independently a presidential son may conduct his business affairs, competitors, enemies and even friends are bound to assume that he has power and pull beyond their reach.

The mere existence of such a situation usually causes a flood of sneaky stories which cannot be effectively answered or denied. Withdrawal of James also is another indication that the administration is caulking the seams for the next campaign.

PAST WORDS—
President Roosevelt first made known his attitude on the bonus in April, 1932. In an interview with James J. Montague, of the North American newspaper alliance, the president then said:

"I don't see how, as a matter of practical sense, a government running behind two billion dollars annually can consider the anticipation of bonus payments until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper, but with a surplus of cash in the treasury."

But in that same interview, Mr. Roosevelt also said budget deficits should not be permitted to continue for more than one year.

NOTES

The final bonus law will contain a clause renouncing pensions for World War veterans, but no veteran needs to take that too seriously. Ten years ago, the Legion was against a bonus. Ten years from now, there will be a pension system.

Railroads are going ahead on the theory that the court decision ruins federal pensioning plans for all time. Most large railroads have pension systems of their own, anyway.

The Liberals have been secretly afraid all along that Justice Roberts would desert them. They regarded the labor decision as the first confirmation of their fears.

NRA officials now privately confess their organization is in a state of "progressive paralysis," but continues to take on new workers. Six were hired in the last two weeks.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

TOUGHST
While business conservatives are rearing their opposition to the New Deal, the banks keep mum. Their peace pact with the administration is theoretically still in effect—and they agree with the copybooks that tact is a virtue.

But most of the big financial men are privately just as determined as the right-wing business element that '36 shall be FDR's unlucky number. Their methods are more subtle and they aren't tipping their hand—but they'll be doing their stuff when the going gets hot. Wall Street's air of detached calmness bodes more trouble for the New Deal than the Chamber of Commerce's frenzy.

But some of the bankers preparing to buttress the opposition have their moments of trepidation. "We'd darn well better capture the citadel in 1936 or 1937 will be the toughest year we have ever known."

CONSENT

Whatever the ultimate fate of NRA, the Senate Committee vote for a ten-month extension with intra-state business exempted was not the slap at FDR it looked like.

New York insiders are confident that the senators who seemed to be conducting a revolution had been privately informed they would not be punished for it.

It is characterized as a deliberate test of public sentiment—with the White House willing to accept the senate proposition as a compromise if vox pop endorses it as against a more ambitious renewal.

Skilled observers remark the President obviously cannot admit as much. He must stick to his own plan publicly to save face. But they cannot imagine three-fourths of the committee—including both Mr. Harrison and loyalists George Bailey and Guffey—flouting his wishes without assurance of his tacit consent.

JOBS

Informed New Yorkers do not share Bill Green's gloom about the small employment gain in March. The increase in production efficiency from 1929 to '34 is estimated at 26 per cent. With efficiency rising by five per cent a year they rate it remarkable that there has been any gain at all in places on the payroll.

They add that we must be turning out six per cent or so additional products if we are more than maintaining industrial jobs—and each year as efficiency rises we must consume more to keep employment from receding.

These analysts figure that permanent progress toward re-employment must include—apart from readjustment of the work week and certain shortening of working age limits—the opening up of huge industries of leisure in which the machine is not so important a factor.

MIRACLE

New York is impressed by the unusual intelligence both sides have shown in the auto strike. The absence of violence shows that both management and labor are learning how to run a strike without playing into the other fellow's hands.

The unions took great pains to keep Communists from crashing their picket lines. The reds always try to promote rough stuff—which may help their recruiting but does the union sponsoring the strike no good. Labor discipline this time has been remarkable.

The managements are rated smart for not trying to keep their plants running at any cost. Their tactics have given the bitterness which leads to violence nothing to feed on. Moreover their passive resistance puts them in a better position to bargain than frantic efforts to keep the wheels turning. Observers remark that it's rare enough for either side in a labor dispute to be brainy rather than bull-headed—when both are it's nothing short of a miracle.

TIMID

Despite high-sounding and optimistic statements the seven states in the New York milk area (Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland) aren't much closer to the milk marketing agreement they're shooting for than they were when they started. The governors have discovered that it takes more than good intentions and prestige of office to untangle such a complicated snarl. The states whose farmers get the most for their product naturally want to protect them against foreign incursions, while the states where milk is cheap want free competition.

The AAA—which Governor Lehman of New York originally tried to freeze out of the picture—is the actor who must participate before

NEW OFFICERS TO BE NAMED BY S. A. LIONS

Nomination of officers and selection of a representative to compete in the annual five-minute speaker contest featured today's meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club held at James cafe.

Glenn Tidball was the successful winner in the speakers' contest, and will represent the Santa Ana club at the county semi-final contest to be held at Laguna Beach May 20 at the next county council meeting. Other contenders were Frank Harwood and E. M. Sundquist.

Nominations for officers were made as follows: President, C. W. Harrison and Joe Peterson; first vice president, E. H. Layton and Vic Walker; second vice president, A. G. Green and Frank West; third vice president, Rolla Hays Jr. and Burr Shafer; secretary, E. M. Sundquist; treasurer, John S. McCarty; tall-twister, Dale Decker; lion tamer, Andy Anderson and Bill Sebastian; directors, E. R. Abbey, John A. Henderson, Don Jerome and Wilbur Shook.

Entertainment at today's meeting included Mother's day song by the Lions' quartet, and several numbers by Kermit Holven, the "Singing Boy Scout" of Long Beach, and known as the youngest dramatic tenor in America. The young singer, who is assistant Scoutmaster of a Long Beach troop, accompanied himself on the guitar.

Holven was accompanied by his Scoutmaster, Don H. Hooper.

Lionism Will Endure
"Lionism—Will it endure?" was the subject of today's five-minute speaker contest, and all speakers took the position that Lionism will endure.

Lionism is founded on friendship and co-operation, and through this spirit will be found the solution for many national ills, Sundquist declared. He pointed to the present Rotary safe-driving campaign and the get-out-the-vote campaign in Santa Ana sponsored by the Lions club last fall as pointing the way to correction of such ills.

Lionism is an ideal of unselfish service, founded upon a solid foundation, and is embodied in the Lions Code of Ethics, Harwood said. Lionism, he said, is Americanism and is imbued with the spirit of loyalty, of good citizenship and of service to others.

Lionism is building upon human values which are eternal, declared Tidball, the winning speaker, and emphasizes the value of life and human affection. Lionism is the Golden Rule in action, he said, and promotes all the good qualities of community and civic betterment, and the talents and capacities of its members.

Not only has Lionism a worthy purpose but also an adequate program, he declared, which is being carried out through 80,000 members affiliated in some 2800 Lions clubs. The four values in Lions club membership he listed as inspiration to better living, entertainment, education and fellowship.

A. G. Green was chairman of the speakers' contest today while Floyd Howard, chief of police, introduced the entertainment numbers.

SAYS SUPERVISORS APPROVE GAS TAX INCREASE TO CITIES

Refutation of claims being made that the County Supervisors association is opposing attempts to increase the allotment of gasoline taxes to the cities, was made in a statement by W. O. Russell, chairman of the legislative committee of the supervisors' organization, to which local supervisors called attention today.

Instead of opposing such increase in the share of the gasoline tax sought by the cities, the Supervisors' Association is supporting the League of California Municipalities in its demand for an increase. The Supervisors' Association, said Russell, has gone on record unanimously endorsing the proposal to increase the cities' share from 1-4 cent to 1-2 cent per gallon.

Russell himself has spoken in support of the pending legislative measure proposing such increase, he stated.

$25,000 DAMAGE SUIT BEING TRIED

A $25,473.63 damage suit, based upon the death of Nobuko Furuta, 13, Japanese girl of Midway City, in a traffic accident was being heard today by Superior Judge James L. Allen. Charles M. Furuta, father of the girl, is plaintiff in the case against Carl William Randall, William Knight, Robert Young and Donald Mathews, youths who were involved in the accident, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Randall.

The Randalls are owners of a car driven by Carl Randall, which was parked on Huntington Beach boulevard south of Midway City, on the night of March 27, 1934, when a car in which the Japanese girl was riding with Masajo Neishi passed that way. The Neishi car collided with a trailer attached to the rear of the Randall car, the trailer being loaded with a boat.

The Furuta girl died in St. Joseph's hospital, Orange, the next evening.

AMELIA SLEEPS AS NATION CHEERS HER

NEW YORK, May 9.—(UP)—Tougher halted Amelia Earhart at the airport today while the country acclaimed her latest feat—a non-stop flight from Mexico City to New York.

It was the first non-stop flight between the two cities, but also the first attempt. Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexico's flying hero, attempted a non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington, but fell 100 miles short of his goal. He died in a crash-up on the return flight.

Miss Earhart, who has flown solo over the Atlantic from Newfoundland to Ireland, and over the Pacific from Hawaii to California, brought her red Lockheed Vega monoplane at Newark airport at 10:28:50 p. m. (E.D.T.) last night, 14 hours, 15 minutes and 59 seconds after she took off alone from the dry bed of old Lake Texcoco, near Mexico City. The distance is 2100 miles.

MILK GROUPS PLAN TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Steps for the formation of a federation of milk producers associations from throughout Southern California were taken this morning at a meeting of the dairy department of the Orange county Farm Bureau and other dairy organizations from the county. The move is endorsed by Farm Bureau.

The establishment of the federation will insure an equitable marketing organization for milk and milk products. It was explained by speakers, despite the fact that the California private laws, test cases on which will be tried this month in Los Angeles courts.

Included in the federation will be the Independent Milk Producers association, the California Milk Producers association, the Los Angeles Mutual Dairyman, the Los Angeles County Natural Milk association, the Orange County Milk Producers Association, Inc., the Dairyman's Association, of Riverside, the Kern County Milk Producers association and the Southern California Bottled Raw Milk association.

Directors for the federation will be chosen from each of the associations represented. Earl Maharg, zone agent of the California Milk Producers commission, of Los Angeles, said in addressing the group this morning. H. C. Darrow, milk administrator for Los Angeles county, also addressed the group, referring to the attempts to coordinate clauses of the federal license law and state law.

Approximately 75 growers from Orange county, representatives of the Orange county Milk Producers Association, the Independent Milk Producers association and the California Milk association attended the meeting. The meeting was arranged under the direction of Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the Farm Bureau.

FULLERTON, May 9.—Mrs. William Holve discussed "Family Relationships" and Mrs. J. O. Rayne discussed "Child Play" at a meeting of the study circle of Maple Avenue Parent-Teacher association at the home of Mrs. V. Ashley Doss Wednesday. Mrs. J. O. Rayne presided.

LABORATORY TESTS OF LUBRICATING OIL ORDERED BY BOARD

A new type of laboratory analysis which shows the comparative lasting qualities and efficiency of various types of lubricating oil was adopted by the county supervisors yesterday for all motor equipment of the county, when the board entered an agreement with the Faber Petroleum Inspection Service for such lubrication service.

Supervisors said they expected, through the scientific analysis and chart service of the Faber organization, to effect a material saving upon lubrication costs by discovering which oils are the most suitable for the type of service performed by the equipment.

A detailed and systematic record of each vehicle's lubrication use and needs, which also will have a bearing upon preventing mechanical wear, is provided by the Faber system, it was explained.

The agreement was made at a conference between the supervisors and Ralph F. Faber, of Los Angeles, head of the laboratory organization.

TRIAL OF THEFT CASE CONTINUED

Trial of Marie Hill, colored, of Anaheim, accused of grand theft of $13 from the person of M. T. Larson, of Anaheim, was continued to May 23 when the case came before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel today.

A relative of the woman, appearing with her in court, said that Attorney John S. Cooper, of Los Angeles, has been retained for her defense, and asked for time to prepare his case. It was also stated that the woman would change her plea of not guilty to a plea of not guilty by reason of former jeopardy.

In that connection, it was unofficially reported that she had been previously charged with petty theft in Anaheim, as a result of the same incident involved in the present case.

Anahem police arrested the woman at Larson's complaint when he accused her of accosting him as he waited for his wife near their car on a parking lot beside an Anaheim market. He asserted that when he rejected her advances she grappled with him and seized his purse from his inner coat pocket. When police arrived she tossed the purse under a nearby car, it was alleged.

Save 22,070 Acre Feet Of Water Through Spreading

ABSORPTION IN RIVER AID TO CONSERVATION

Spreading operations in the Santa Ana river under direction of the Orange County Water District, aided by natural absorption, resulted in the sinking and saving of 22,070 acre feet of water in Orange county during the period from December 8, 1934, when spreading operations were started, until April 30, 1935. It was reported to the district board of directors at a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in Garden Grove.

Director W. C. Mauerhan, who is in charge of the spreading operations, made the report. The area in which water was spread, as covered in the report, was between the Anaheim-Olive bridge and the Yorba bridge.

The report showed that total flow passing the Yorba bridge during the period from December to the end of April amounted to 22,300 acre feet. Absorption between the Yorba and Jefferson street bridges amounted to 18,380 acre feet, with 3920 acre feet of water passing the Jefferson street bridge. Absorption between the Jefferson street bridge and the Anaheim-Olive bridge amounted to 3590 acre feet, while the flow past the Anaheim-Olive bridge amounted to but 230 acre feet. Water is considered lost to the underground basin if it flows past the lower bridge.

Directors of the district evinced considerable satisfaction at the report which showed a considerable saving in water through the spreading operations, which have been accomplished with a crew of men furnished by the SERRA in a project sponsored by the district.

SIXTH ANNUAL 4-H SESSIONS START MAY 24

Plans were under way today for the sixth annual conference of Southern California 4-H club leaders, at Laguna Beach, at which time the Orange County Council of 4-H Leaders will be hosts. The conference is scheduled to take place on May 24 and 25 and a program was announced today for this annual event.

The conference is to open on Friday evening with a pot luck beach supper to be held below the cliffs, near Cottage City, starting at 6 o'clock. The Orange county leaders will furnish the coffee, cream and sugar. The program following the beach supper will be in charge of Woodbridge Metcalf, extension forester, University of California, Berkeley, assisted by the San Bernardino county leaders.

On Saturday morning the conference will open at the Laguna Beach grammar school with Leslie Carman, 4-H leader of Monrovia, leading the discussion on local county fairs for 4-H clubs. Mrs. Sara W. ## CULTURAL FEATURE OF SAN DIEGO EXPOSITION

One of the finest cultural features of the great California-Pacific International Exposition will be the many recitals which will be played on the famous Spreckels outdoor organ, surrounded by white peristyles against green foliage, which is shown below. It is to this charming scene that The Register will send a special train full of readers of The Register on Orange County School Day, May 31. Such great interest has been shown in the plan to send Register readers to the exposition without cost that it was necessary for Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin to go to San Diego yesterday to make advance arrangements for securing the guest tickets.

Although almost snowed under with requests for more and more information about how every person in Orange county who wants to can secure an all-expense paid trip to the great California-Pacific International Exposition at San Diego, Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin took enough time off yesterday to go to San Diego to complete final arrangements for the big day on May 31 when The Register will send a special train full of Register readers to the exposition.

On the grounds of the exposition, Conklin conferred with directors of the exposition, who are cooperating 100 per cent with The Register in the plan to give Register readers an opportunity to spend a glorious day at the exposition even if they are flat broke.

Arrangements were completed to make available even a greater number of concessions at the exposition than before. Now those who leave on the special Register train on May 31 will have more in store for them than previously.

Those who take part in the plan, which is as simple as ABC, will be guests of The Register on the special train trip, will have a fine lunch and dinner served without cost, will be taken to the exposition grounds in beautiful Balboa Park, will be admitted to the exposition and to various concessions—without spending a cent in cash.

All you need to do is to get four of your friends to subscribe to The Register for two months. You don't even have to collect a penny. As soon as you've done this you'll get your guest ticket. Better hurry up, for time passes swiftly.

West Coast Will Screen "G" Men Tonight, Friday

In order that every theatergoer in this vicinity may have an opportunity to see the thrilling drama of the United States Secret Service, "G Men," Manager Lester J. Fountain has made arrangements to continue the showing of the film for two extra days at the West Coast theater, it was announced today. The picture will show at the West Coast instead of the Broadway where it has been showing. It will be screened tonight and tomorrow.

Law enforcement officers of the county, including Capt. Henry Mehan of the California Highway Patrol and Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard of Santa Ana, have urged every child and adult in the county to be sure to see the film, which presents the battle of members of the United States Department of Justice against public enemies and which shows the side of law enforcement instead of making heroes out of gangsters.

The heroic deeds of the secret service men are shown in the thrilling drama, which is based on sensational newspaper headlines. James Cagney heads an all-star cast as the "G Men" who is instrumental in eliminating a gang of racketeers and thugs. Margaret Lindsay has the leading feminine role. Ann Dvorak has an important part in the film as a dancer who knew too much. Other notable players in the cast include Robert Armstrong, Barton MacLane, Lloyd Nolan, William Harrison, Regis Toomey and Russell Hopton.

Ten Santa Ana Gardens Will Be Opened for Y. W. Garden Tour

Recalling the success of the garden tour of a year ago, Santa Ana Y. W. members are entering upon their plans for this year's event with much enthusiasm. They have had a gratifying response from home owners who have cooperated by placing their pretty gardens on the list of those open to visitors on the two afternoons selected by the committee. Next Tuesday afternoon the first group of gardens will be open for inspection between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, according to Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, tour chairman.

Formal and informal gardens, patios and diversified planting will be exemplified in this list, which includes the garden of the William Otis home, 2226 Victoria Drive; of the Dr. Frank Patterson home, 2415 Heliotrope Drive; of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rutan, 2435 Riverside Drive; the Roy E. Langley, 2452 Riverside Drive; the Clara Fowlers, 615 West Santa Clara Avenue.

Two North Flower street gardens are included, at the Edward Wagner home, 2048 North Flower, and at the Dean Waynick home, 1908 North Flower street. The Dr. C. T. Cleveland garden at 1610 North Broadway will bring the "tourists" further southward in the city, while southernmost on the list is the George Parker garden, 511 South Van Ness Avenue.

Tour tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Wellington and her committee or by telephoning the Y. W. at 2631. Patrons planning to make the rounds of these beautiful spots, may arrange their tour to end at the Hugh Gerrard home, 2009 Victoria Drive, where Mrs. Gerrard, Mrs. Clarence Bond and Mrs. Charles F. Smith will preside as hostesses at a garden tea from 4 to 5 o'clock. There will be music to add to the interest of the tea.

There will be a hostess group assisting in the various gardens, the number including Mesdames Ray Adkinson, Franklin West, Charles Swanner and W. B. Williams.

A different list of gardens will be announced for the second tour, scheduled for Saturday afternoon, May 11.

Hostess Entertains At Dinner Party

Entertaining informally at dinner, Miss Cora Craig was hostess Tuesday night to a little group of friends in her home, 817 Riverline Avenue.

Her neighbors, Miss Clara Padcock, Mrs. E. E. Lowry and Mrs. Jona S. Sharp, aware of her plans, presented her with many lovely flowers to arrange as a background for her table with its bowl of sweet peas.

Covers were laid for Miss Craig, the hostess, Miss Laura Sherman, Miss Elizabeth Sherman, Miss Minnie Wade, Miss Irma DeBarr and her brother, Lynn DeBarr.

Long Established Club Shows Interest in Travel Plans

Inspired by summer travel plans of one of their number, Miss Gertrude Potts, was a delightful party of the week, planned as a surprise to Miss Potts by the hostess, Mrs. Harvey A. Gardner, and her sister members in Chitt 'N' Sea club.

This club, organized more than 20 years ago by a group of school girls, has continued the close association then formed and meets at more or less regular intervals for bridge and the amusements suggested by its name. Summer plans of Miss Potts, who will sail for the Orient at the close of the school term, are of keen interest to others of the membership, so they determined to lead in the succession of bon voyage parties planned for the popular member of McKinley school staff.

Mrs. Gardner determined upon a combined nautical and national theme for her entertaining, and the fertile mind of Mrs. L. A. Dickey aided her in bringing the plan to a delightful fulfillment. Following their suggestion, Chitt 'N' Sea members appeared at the dinner hour in the Gardner home, 2026 North Main street, in picturesque sailor attire. As Miss Potts entered, all stood at salute, to her delighted surprise.

When dinner was served, the table presented a study in marine values. Spread with crepe paper in the deep blue of the American flag, it had a fishnet laid over the blue, and a billowing sea in the center where a stately ocean liner seemed to move amidst a convoy of smaller vessels. Quaint red and blue fish with glistening eyes as amusing as they were amazing, held the nuts and sweetmeats at each place, and the motif was stressed by place cards, red and blue stars ornamenting each water goblet, napkin rings which were life savers with the name of "Taiyo Maru" (the boat upon which Miss Potts will sail) and favors of authentic "gob's" caps, each star-dotted.

Covers were indicated for the hostess, Mrs. Gardner, the honor guest, Miss Potts, Mrs. L. A. Dickey, Mrs. Carl Edgar, Mrs. Walter Gerken, Mrs. J. A. Gajski, Mrs. Fred Merker, Mrs. Frank Hammett, Mrs. Claude Sleeper and Mrs. Warren Hillyard.

Club members had made a selection of lovely gifts which were presented to Miss Potts. After dinner hours were spent in discussing her plans, and maps and a large globe aided members in following the proposed route. In Shanghai, she will join Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clayton of Orange, and their niece, Miss Helen Biggerstaff of Berkeley, and their party for a tour which will take them into different parts of the globe and consume several months' time. Miss Potts had been granted a leave of absence from the school board, to allow her to continue the journey from the Orient to Europe.

Mrs. Ray Green Named Medical Auxiliary President

Mrs. Ray Green of Fullerton will direct the Women's auxiliary to Orange County Medical association during the coming year, having been selected to that post Tuesday at a meeting in the Dr. Arthur C. Robbins home in Garden Grove. She succeeds Mrs. Harry G. Huffman of this city. Officers to serve with her will be Mrs. K. H. Sutherland of Santa Ana, vice president; Mrs. E. H. Kersten of Anaheim, secretary, and Mrs. G. W. Olson of Fullerton, treasurer.

Associated with Mrs. Robbins the hostess duties Tuesday were Mrs. H. S. Gobar, Mrs. Harry E. Zaiser, Mrs. R. C. Cochran and Mrs. Ray Green. They had planned an interesting afternoon to include the election and an address by Dr. H. A. Johnston of Anaheim on "Romance in Medicine."

In his talk, Dr. Johnston traced the history of medical science from its beginnings when illness was believed to be due to evil spirits. In coming down through the ages he touched upon the foundations laid for today's advance in the science of Hippocrates, famous Greek known as "the father of medicine."

He discussed the Roman influence and then came down through the centuries to Jenner, discoverer of the cause of smallpox; Pasteur, French chemist who found the rabies vaccine; Lister, who developed the necessity of antiseptic surgery, to the present era when asepsis is removing the last lingering fears of surgical treatment.

Points in the address were discussed generally as the auxiliary members enjoyed refreshments served by the hostesses. The tea table, where Mrs. C. S. O'Toole and Mrs. John Wehrly presided, was bright with blue delphinium and yellow snapdragons.

Other interesting features of the day included the gracious gesture of Mrs. Huffman in presenting beautiful flower corsages to newly elected officers and to those who have formed her official family during the year.

The annual convention was discussed also and delegates were chosen as Mesdames Harry Huffman, Hiram Currey, Milo K. Tedstrom and Ray Green with Mesdames Dexter Ball, G. W. Olson, Harry Zaiser and C. E. Raitt as alternates.

R. E. V. JACKMAN WILL TALK ON TIMELY TOPICS

In response to popular demand for the highest type of music, the first of a series of masterpieces by Beethoven, Bach, Rimsky-Korsakoff, and others will be presented in concert form tonight from 8:30 until 9 on KREG, augmenting the present classical programs scheduled daily and totaling approximately four and a half hours per day.

Beethoven's "Quartet in C Minor," Op. 18, No. 4 as played by the London String Quartet is the featured selection for tonight, including the three movements and the finale.

"The first six quartets, Op. 18, with the contemporary First Symphony and the later Second Symphony, belong to the most objective division of Beethoven's work when the general effect of his music was decorative rather than emotional," was stated by critics. "The C Minor is a quartet in which the music is more than likely that of the group it was last composed, and it is generally considered its finest member."

Wada Daihachi is not the only famous name associated with Japanese archery, but for a seemingly impossible feat of endurance it stands above all others. His record is more emphatic when it is known that the Japanese, always associated with diminutiveness, have always used the largest and most powerful bows of any race. Their bows measured from seven and a half to eight feet with arrows three feet and over.

Sanjusangendo Temple, "Hall of Thirty-three Pillar Spans," in Kyoto, has for centuries been a favorite place for archery contests, not mainly for its 128 yards in length, but for its comparatively low ceiling of 16 feet, which forces the archer to send his arrows on practically a level line to reach the end of the hall.

Daihachi, as is always the case in the endurance contests, shot continuously from sunset to sunset. For the 24 hours, he shot his arrows at the rate of better than five each minute, a total of 8,133.

Two horses with broken necks and one jockey in the hospital resulted from the freak accident at Bay Meadows track November 13, 1934. Jockey McLaren was exercising "Mint Memories," a $2000 horse owned by Mrs. A. Mannie, when "Sir Richard," a $3500 mount owned by Mrs. A. Horton, broke from his stall and dashed madly around the track in the opposite direction from that of McLaren.

Force that both were killed instantly and the jockey, instead of racing that day as scheduled, took his ride in an ambulance.

Tomorrow: Insect crows.

ORANGE, May 9.—Appointment of the playground commission was made at a meeting of the city council held last night. The appointments are as follows: Mrs. E. R. Forbes, appointed for one year, to replace Mrs. Lavinia Compton Knight; Mrs. F. E. Hallman, two years, to replace Mrs. Alice Sutton; A. Haven Smith, H. Heim and Mrs. Glen Beck, three years.

Reinstatement of a former city employee, John Allan, connected with the street department, who was dismissed by the action of the city council the first of the year, was made, it being understood that employment is to be temporary. Mayor C. J. Hessel pointed out that Allen could not be rehired unless former action was rescinded. Mayor Hessel and A. H. Heim voted "no" and C. D. Lester, J. E. Riley and E. M. A check is to be made on causes for breakage of lights on West Chapman avenue, where 19 were replaced last month but 34 being replaced throughout the entire rest of the city. Permission to use city water was granted to 12 consumers between the corner of West Collins avenue and Batavia street, at the usual double rate for services outside the city limits. Permits were given Tom W. Barnett, 271 South Grand street, to operate a greenhouse at that number and one to Forrest Heaton to conduct a photo finishing studio at 181 Lester drive.

W. K. Hilyard, supervising engineer for the Batavia street storm drain, stated that the city's remaining expense for the project would be but $1000. The project is about two-thirds completed, he stated, and it will be completed about July 1.

Gordon K. Richmond, city attorney, was paid $100, attorney fees in the case of Rout vs. the city, which was settled out of court. Richmond reported the rights of ways had been secured for the branch city drain from Alfred E. Zapf, S. P. Kane, M. M. Kraft and L. B. Phillips.

V. D. Johnson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, was granted $415 of $420 budgeted to the advertising fund of the city and $148 for May day expenses. The month was $26,439.27, business licenses, $124.65, and wheel taxes, $7, according to a report made by Chief of Police George H. Franzen and $315 was collected in fines by Judge A. W. Swayze.

Two race horses had a head-on collision at Bay Meadows in 1934. Both were killed instantly.

Wada Daihachi is not the only famous name associated with Japanese archery, but for a seemingly impossible feat of endurance it stands above all others. His record is more emphatic when it is known that the Japanese, always associated with diminutiveness, have always used the largest and most powerful bows of any race. ## MEASURE LOWERING RATE FOR WATER GIVEN FIRST READING; COMPLETION OF PLUNGE URGED

ORANGE, May 9.—Proceedings to lower the city water rate and plans to install chlorinators and filters at the city plunge in order to permit its use the present year came up at a heated session of the Orange city council last night, with all councilmen present and Mayor C. J. Hessel presiding.

An ordinance was introduced by Councilman C. D. Lester providing for the reduction of the water rate from April 15 of each year to October 15 of each year, with $1 charged for 1000 cubic feet of water. A price of $1 for 800 cubic feet per month, the present rate for the entire year, was set for the time from October 15 to April 15.

In a discussion which followed the introduction of the ordinance, Councilman A. H. Heim pointed out that city revenue would be reduced by adoption of the ordinance and that at present those who do not pay taxes, contribute to the city through the water rate.

Mayor Hessel stated that he believed care and thought should enter into the decision of the matter as at one time the water department had not paid its own way and that an advance in the cost of materials for water projects or a need of repair work might bring about a similar condition. It was pointed out that the surplus now in the water fund had been brought about by cheap materials and no extensive repair work for the system. The reduction will mean about 20 cents a meter a month, it was estimated.

Councilmen Lester, J. E. Riley and E. M. Chapman voted "yes" on the introduction of the ordinance. Mayor Hessel and Councilman Heim voted "no."

A delegation of school representatives and members of the city playground commission present urged the immediate completion of the plunge to a point where bathing could be enjoyed, even if money for a bath house were not obtainable.

George C. Sherwood, superintendent of the grammar schools, urged the completion of the plunge. He pointed out that while for many years but few boys from Orange were placed under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, during the past five years the number has constantly increased. He stated that the cases included extremely young children and that it was felt that the increase was due to lack of play facilities. He stated that he considered the project of more improvement than storm drains or fire stations.

Bond Issue Suggested
Councilman C. D. Lester suggested the calling of a bond election and putting the matter before the people, objecting to money being taken from the water fund, pointing out that some great need might arise and that water funds might be needed in an emergency such as buying a new pump. Mrs. L. L. Williams, member of the playground commission, suggested that in that case, a bond election could be called to buy the pump.

Councilman Heim stated that possibilities for the completion of the plunge had existed all along and that "in December a monkey wrench was thrown into plans by dissenting councilmen." It was brought out that the plunge could be made ready for use this summer at a cost of from $5000 to $7000. City Clerk T. H. Eljah stated that between $2000 and $3000 had been added to the city treasury through a seven per cent delinquency in tax payments instead of an estimated 10 per cent. He stated that an improvement fund of $3,362 coming from fines collected by the city judge, A. W. Swayze, could be borrowed for use on the plunge project if the councilmen so desired.

Act at Meeting May 15
When Sherwood urged an immediate answer, a proposal was made to consider the matter for a week and to obtain prices for the project to be presented at a city council meeting to be held May 15 at 7 p. m. Clyde Watson asked if it were not a fact that the council knew exactly what it was going to do and urged that the matter be settled at once. Others asking for the completion of the plunge were J. B. Wilbur, Y.M.C.A. secretary, A. Haven Smith, high school principal, and Mrs. E. H. Smith, head of the Girl Scouts.

It was agreed to table the proposal until May 15. It was revealed that at present there is $11,000 in the general fund, and about $17,500 in the water fund.

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

At last wee Scouty grow tired out. Thought he, "I guess I'm just about to drop off of this vine lasso and take a sudden plunge."

"I may have strength to swing once more and try to reach the nearby shore."

And that's just what the brave young lad did, with a final lunge. He promptly dropped down on the ground and for an hour made not a sound. In fact, he fell asleep. This did him lots of good.

When he awoke, he stretched and said, "I'd best be moving on, instead of loafing. I am going to do just as I know I should.

"The old ink man must be nearby. I'll start to shout, and maybe I can bring him here. Gee, if I do, I know he'll lend a hand."

The lad then shouted, loudly, "Hey! Somebody come around this way. I'm in a plight that I can quickly make you understand."

He waited for a while and then began to loudly yell again. His voice seemed very strong now, and it almost shook the trees.

Strange faces popped right out on two, and one tree said, "Say, who are you? You're making much too much noise, lad. Be quiet, if you please!"

A vanity case won't help you make up lost sleep.

This startled Scouty for a bit, and then he said, "I can't help it. I need the ink man. There is something I want him to do."

The tree snapped, "We can help you son. We'll bring the ink man, on the run. We'll whistle with our leaves and that will fetch him right to you."

Then came a funny whirring sound and, as wee Scouty looked around, he shouted, "Gee, your whistle worked. You trees are not so dumb."

"The big ink man now is in sight. He's heading over here, all right." And then he heard the ink man shouting, "Be patient! Here I come!"

FINGERPRINTS 2000 YEARS Old Offer New Clues TO BIBLE CITY'S HISTORY

By Emily C. Davis

FINGERPRINT science has a new role—helping archaeologists to solve mysteries in Bible ruins.

It appears that potters shaping their clay in a Bible town, in the days of Samuel and Saul and on down to the time of Christ, left fingerprints on their wares. The potters died. The Bible town fell into ruins. The broken lamps and pitchers, still fingermarked, lay buried in debris.

And now, several thousand years later, these fingerprints, newly discovered, are plain enough for an archaeologist to use them as dependable clues in reconstructing the town's history.

Thus, at last, archaeology has succeeded in forcing fingerprint science to do its well-known kind of detective work on mysteries of the past.

For some time it has been hoped that celebrated masters of Greek vase painting could be identified by their prints. There are fingermarks on some of the vases by unknown Greeks. What is sought is a fingerprint on a signed vase. That could—with luck—be matched with prints on some of the unsigned vases. But so far that quest has proved unsuccessful. All the prints on the puzzle-vases have been discouragingly different.

Success in adapting fingerprint methods to Bible explorations will renew the faith of archaeologists that modern fingerprint science can identify the ancient dead. Possibilities in this field may be far-reaching, for soft clay naturally catches finger imprints, and clay was the main stuff of which the ancient world was made.

Out of lumps of pliable clay, the ancients manufactured not only household dishes but images of Astarte and Baal, art vases, tablets on which to write, and many of their houses and walls. There is detective work ahead there for scientists with microscopes and training in analysis of fingerprint patterns.

THE Bible town which has yielded the first important fingerprint data is Mizpah, famous for its associations with many Bible characters. Since 1926, this long-buried town has been the scene of repeated scientific encampments. Arab workers move about on the high mound, shoveling away earth, clearing city walls, carrying basket loads of archaeological evidence down to the expedition offices below.

The leader of these excavations, which have just entered upon their fifth season, is Dr. William F. Bade, professor of Semitic literature and languages at the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif. His exploration of Tell en-Nasbeh, as the site is called on modern maps, awestruck spies said the cities were "walled up to heaven." Just a frightened exaggeration? Well, Professor Bade found the wall of Mizpah, and that wall has caused Biblical scholars to revise their respectful opinions of Canaanite building prowess.

Mizpah's wall, unearthed, stands over 16 feet thick and 20 feet high. When the Israelites came to conquer Palestine, the wall must have stood full 40 feet high. Nevertheless, the Israelites took Mizpah.

At Mizpah, later, Samuel sat by the great gate and acted as judge over the people. Professor Bade's expedition found this gate, the finest that has been discovered in Palestine.

At Mizpah, Saul was chosen king by the casting of sacred lots. The excavations have Gedaliah the governor invited Ishmael and his friends to a banquet, although Gedaliah had been warned that Ishmael was his enemy. The banquet ended in an uprising and Gedaliah and other victims were slain.

Fingermarks of the same person, impressed on two different lamps found in a tomb at Mizpah. The letters on the upper print, by the way, don't date from ancient Mizpah. They were added for identification after the excavation.

objects, broken and whole, used by people of Mizpah in three or four thousand years of ancient history. One season the workmen carried down to headquarters 3000 half-bushel baskets of pottery from tombs, wells, and trash deposits.

Professor Bade is alert to the value of modern aids in rediscovering the Bible world. That there was a settlement on the mound, long ago, he first deduced when he climbed the hill and saw broken chips of pottery lying among the wheat and barley on the tilled surface. Before he decided to dig, however, he sought evidence of the wall that would have surrounded a city of importance.

For this he needed a good airplane photograph, which might show, even under a blanket of earth, the faint shape of a once prominent wall. The German government came to his aid with an enlargement of an aerial photograph showing environs of Jerusalem. Satisfied that there was indeed a wall, Professor Bade set his men to work and within half an hour the corner tower of the wall of Mizpah had been struck.

They had not been digging long when the archaeologist began to wonder about fingerprints. There were a good many prints on the clay lamps, jugs, and bowls. Professor Bade set aside the ancient fingerprint records. He was resolved to study them when he got away from the crowded, busy days of digging.

Back in his laboratory in Berkeley, he called on August Vollmer, professor of police administration at the University of California and former police chief of Berkeley.

With a touch of humor, Professor Bade says: "It is no reflection on the character of members of the venerable company of ancient potters to say that we are taking their fingerprints with the aid of the criminal identification bureau of a California city."

BIBLE scholar and criminologist, working together, sorted out two kinds of prints in the clay evidence before them.

On large, two-handled jars, the potters of Mizpah had sometimes deliberately left thumb and fingerprints on the jar handles. The potters, who by the way were probably women, did this as a trademark, Professor Bade concludes. Good workmen of every age have been eager to mark their own products.

The other type of print looks unintentional. This type of mark occurs scattered over the surface of bowls and other objects, as if the finger marks had come there in the shaping of the clay.

By comparing fingerprints, Professor Bade and Professor Vollmer have been able in many instances to identify the work of the same potter.

The debris of a town like Mizpah lies in layers buried by successive builders. In Bible days each new set of inhabitants, after a fire, war, or other calamity, would level off the wreckage and build their new homes over the ruins.

This filling-in and leveling-off process often disturbed the lower layers of buried history, Professor Bade explains. For that reason, archaeologists have trouble tracing the same layer of occupation over a 12-acre site such as Mizpah represents. And that means doubt and much argument over the age and interpretation of the historic features of the site.

When clay jars found in different parts of the mound bear the unmistakable finger marks of the same person, that is good evidence for settling arguments. Clay pitchers were fragile stuff. They broke easily, got lost down wells, and in general lasted no longer than our own everyday breakfast sets. So the finger marks of an Israelite potter on her work, wherever it turns up, show that those parts of the mound belong to the same era of city history.

Arab workmen, at Mizpah collecting pottery, broken and whole, by the basket load.

is one of the most complete pieces of digging in Palestine archaeology.

Mizpah was one of the Canaanite cities that Joshua's spies saw when they went out to judge the strength of foes in the Promised Land. The unearthed foundations of a large building, which may well have been the temple where Sam was crowned.

At Mizpah later occurred a political murder when Gedaliah, a new and unsuspecting governor, invited Ishmael and his friends to a banquet, though Gedaliah had been warned that Ishmael was his enemy. The banquet ended in an uprising and Gedaliah and other victims were slain. Thirty bodies were cast into a cistern, there at Mizpah. Professor Bade's explorations revealed a cistern mysteriously sealed over, which seems to fit this ancient tale of political intrigue.

JAR handles stamped with letters MZP have been found, helping to verify the site as Mizpah of Bible fame; also an agate seal bearing the significant words, "Belonging to Jaazaniah, servant of the king." Captain Jaazaniah, according to Bible verses, went to Mizpah to offer fealty to the governor there.

Through all these discoveries the excavators have industriously collected a great many pottery the show can go on. Unless it will assume responsibility for licensing and regulating interstate milk traffic the whole plan will collapse. Some of the governors are impatient because their farmers are on their necks. The hitch is that the AAA—believe it or not—is timid about undertaking the job. For all its bold front its chiefs seriously doubt that it can make its orders stick in court unless congress passes the pending licensing amendments.

New Yorkers used to call Charles Davis of the AAA a practical man. Now they call him something quite different. # EXPANSION OF CARRIED FIRM IS ANNOUNCED

Wm. Cavalier and company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, today announced the association of Bert H. Lawver, who is to be in active charge of the listed stock and commodity division of their branch office located at 414 North Main street, Santa Ana.

Lawver has been in the brokerage business for over 20 years, having had former connections as branch manager with Logan Bryan and company, and E. F. Hutton and company. His wide experience in stock and commodity markets will be appreciated by Orange county investors, the firm believes.

Wm. J. Stauffer, resident manager, states that the threatening credit inflation in our monetary system has induced many conservative investors to hedge a portion of their investments against inflation through the purchase of high grade common stocks. "This increasing interest in stocks largely accounts for gradual expansion and has made it necessary to increase the Santa Ana office force to six employees," Stauffer said. "It will be the aim of Wm. Cavalier & Co. to give to Orange county investors a complete service in bonds, stocks and commodities. The office is equipped with a bond statistical service as well as a board room with Translux stock and grain ticker service."

THE DANGERS OF THE STATE TAXATION LEGISLATION

News comes out of Sacramento that, because of some inadvertence in the tax bill, taxpayers will have to turn over to the state from 40 to 100 per cent of the federal rate where their incomes include dividends from various sources.

This is due to the provisions of the Charters bill which is the measure providing for the tax. The bill does not, it appears, allow as a credit for the purposes of the normal tax, the amount of dividends received by Californians as a part of their income.

Of course this should be done, because these dividends have already been taxed by a profit tax at their source. Hence, of course, for the normal state tax they should be exempted.

It certainly is not too late to have this mistake corrected and it should be done, in the interest of fairness.

And while we are on the subject of taxation, it is reaching the point where the tax program, as it comes out of Sacramento is likely to be illustrative, not of fairness, nor of any scientific tax plan, but rather only of the political power of groups.

Each one of these groups is endeavoring to protect itself from tax, and, for that reason, is using all its power to force the legislators to vote for a plan that will extract the taxes from the other fellow.

Any legislator places himself in an exceedingly weak position if he is not governed, in his attitude upon the legislation, by sound and fair principles of taxation.

If he takes his position against every all kinds of discriminatory and special taxes and treats all businesses alike, he can avoid the concerted efforts of groups to relieve themselves while adding to the burdens of the other fellow.

There is no question, however, but that real estate has been carrying and is carrying more than its fair share of tax. Intangibles are not taxed as they should be, and of course it is difficult to reach intangibles.

The tendency of tax legislation is to get the tax where it can be procured and procured easily. That which you can see, like real estate, or that from which you can get a report from the books, like sales, are the simple and common sources from which to get the money.

A sales tax, if applied to all sales, is not a discriminatory tax, as between groups. But a tax on the sales of one article, higher than the sales on other things, is an unfair and discriminatory tax.

Discriminatory and unfair taxes may have a very deleterious effect upon the business of the state. They may drive out or tend to drive out certain lines of trade into other states.

It should never be forgotten that the "power to tax is the power to destroy." And when expenses of government run riot, you may know that there is danger of the destruction of men's property later, by the effort that is required to get the extraordinary amount of money that is needed to meet the expenses of the government.

"DAFFY" SUBSTITUTES FOR "DIZZY" IN TALKATIVE ROLE

Now it appears that the quiet brother of the widely known "Dizzy" Dean, whom "Dizzy" recommended to the St. Louis Cardinals as "better than himself," abandoned his role as the non-talkative Dean, and "flew off the handle" at the umpire yesterday at a decision on balls and strikes which he did not like. As a result, he was banished from the field.

Everyone knows that "Dizzy" Dean is quite a "spieler," but his brother Paul has always been a silent, hard-working self-effacing pitcher, content to leave the "chin-music" to his older brother.

Is one to believe that this marks a change in the younger member of the Dean tribe—that henceforth there will be two swash-buckling and boasting hurlers on Frank Frisch's team to delight the members of the newspaper profession?

Usually a star looks brighter when it is alongside a paler one, and the wallflower helps to make the ordinary-looking girl resemble a beauty when they are together, so "Dizzy" was able to "put over his act" better because "Daffy" was very much of an opposite type as to talkativeness.

Are we to expect "Dizzy" to remonstrate with "Daffy" because of his stepping out of character? Will "Dizzy" shine the less because "Daffy" has started out on a career of his own, and has decided to express himself?

Time alone will tell, but there is probably no doubt, in the minds of the managers of the other league teams, that they would certainly welcome the Dean brothers with open arms, garrulous or otherwise, if they could procure them.

CURRENT LABOR TROUBLES

The people of the country are peculiarly sensitive to labor troubles as recovery appears to be on the way. This is especially the case when the basic industries are affected.

The newspapers naturally note all these labor disturbances as important news; and the feeling exists in many quarters that it is due to the encouragement that has been given to organized labor by the NRA, in the clause known as 7a in the general code, which recognizes the right of labor to bargain collectively with employers.

To those who are troubled by this state of affairs, it is good to learn from a study made by the Twentieth Century Foundation of Boston, an organization supported by public-spirited business men, that labor troubles under 7a have been very much less than they ever have been before during a period of recovery.

We are certain that the conclusions reached by this study are confirmed by those who have been interested in industrial disputes for the last generation or more. Those whose memories date back to the beginning of the century must recall the serious coal strike of 1903 which completely paralyzed industry at that time.

The upheaval in the textile industry in New England in 1911 should be remembered. That strike lasted for months, attended by violence and killings by the soldiery.

The steel strike of 1919 was one of the biggest strikes this country has ever known. Here on the Pacific coast, the general strike in Seattle and the strike in the lumber regions will be recalled. And the era when Tom Mooney and the McNamaras led in labor disturbances is still vivid to many in this region.

Going back a bit further into the last century, there was the Pullman strike in which Eugene Debs figured, and the many disturbances in the coal regions of the East.

The labor troubles of the last year have been nothing compared with these serious outbreaks. Thus far the government has been able to head off every great threatening disturbance, as in the motor industry and the rubber industry. The labor front in comparatively quiet, with the exception of the Toledo strike of Chevrolet workers which has affected collateral industries.

The Twentieth Century foundation has done a good work in showing that conditions in industry have been better under 7a than at any former time.

MORE EVIDENCE OF RETURNING FINE CONDITIONS

A week or so ago, we published an editorial on the first page of the paper, in which we cited the wonderful economic conditions of Orange county.

We can well imagine that some read that editorial thinking that we are only evidencing the enthusiasm usually credited to a real estate salesman.

But every statement there was well within the facts.

Note the evidence of the returning fine conditions shown in the news which we published on the first page of The Register last evening!

There has been a sixteen hundred and fifty reduction in the work relief rolls since the 1st of February this year. That is a drop from 4900 to 3250, or of 33 1-3 per cent. And the end is not yet.

It is impossible to find workers in certain lines now. There will undoubtedly be a reduction of 50 or 60 per cent more in this number as the summer work opens.

Orange county is reaching her normal condition. We are better off, in many respects, than we ever have been. We never did have a payroll in the sense that we have it now from the government.

Were it not for the losses that were sustained in the depression, by those who were depending upon income from outside sources, Orange county would probably be in better condition than it has been for a considerable number of years.

And in many of these cases, their income is beginning again.

Unburying America's Past

New York Sun

Domestic customs of Revolutionary times are revealed through the relics being uncovered by the spades of 50 Civilian Conservation Corps workers in the Jockey Hollow National Historical Park at Morristown, N. J. The relics show that the American farm family of the 1770's used two pronged forks and spoons with pewter bowls and iron handles. Their knives had blades ending in a sweeping curve, apparently that in cutting meat they could be held either horizontally or vertically. Old guns, candlestick holders and doorstops have been discovered.

During the 1934 season many relics, rich in reminiscences of the colonial and Revolutionary periods, were dug up on the property of Fort Ticonderoga and added to the museum collection. A manuscript orderly book of the First New York regiment is one of the acquisitions; others are an American lancer's hat of 1820, a collection of pioneer relics, and a French tomahawk of the type carried by all soldiers and coureurs de bois during the French and Indian war and the Revolution. The semiannual report of the museum shows that in 1934 the fort was visited by over 75,000 persons; they came from every State in the Union and from 27 foreign countries. In numbers the visitors last year increased 84 per cent over those of the previous season.

Excavations on the upland portion of Jamestown Island, Va., preparatory to the development of a restored area as part of the Colonial National Monument, have already yielded rich rewards in relics. They include shovels, fire tongs, fire backs, jugs, pottery and pipes. Systematic records of all articles unearthed will be made. The first excavations under the road leading across the island lay partly under the Old Church tower. Superintendent Pickens suggests that it was the foundation of a public building. It may be the remains of the second Statehouse, the site of which has hitherto baffled historians.

A Needed Man

San Diego Union

The death of Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico deprives the whole people of a senatorial influence very greatly needed in these times. Senator Cutting was liberal, but not committed to that label. He was an open-minded man, guiding his decisions by ideas rather than by any dictation from leaders of party organizations or blocs. Because liberalism is so greatly needed now—and because his liberalism was genuine, not the counterfeit so often passed off by organized minorities with logs to roll—Senator Cutting's death is a national loss.

In naming Senator Cutting's successor in the senate, the state of New Mexico must recognize a deep responsibility to the whole country.

DRIVEN OUT OF EDEN

On learning that wasps are employed to eradicate moths.

"The little busy moth no more
I look upon with dread
When I behold her rise and soar
Above my flower bed.
A swarm of wasps I mean to rear,
And when a moth flits past
On hurrying wing,
The greedy thing
Forthwith will breathe its last.

"I mean to train these wasps of mine
My garden to patrol;
Each day they'll form a battle-line
To check the burrowing mole;
Let avid outcrawlers have a care,
Let caterpillars flee;
My insect band
Will be on hand
To win the war for me."

These words were spoken long ago,
No more I sit up nights
And guard with care
My gay parterre
From crawling parasites.
The slugs are gone, the worms are fled,
But little does that get me;
I cannot lie
Beneath the sky:
The dog-gone wasps won't let me.

DISAPPOINTING

We were intrigued when we read Owen Young's phrase "the unexplored region of wealth." But, drat him, he didn't tell us where it is.

HARD LUCK

And just as mother was reaching for the pink slip to find out how much the old man had been holding out on her, the cursed government took it away from her.

Piling up a national debt doesn't worry Democrats. They know the big taxpayers are darned Republicans.

One way to make people respect the courts is to make the darned things respectable.

Another discouraging fact is that Congressmen never fear the sensible vote.

In plain words, what we need is a plan to raise the price of hog without raising the price of pork.

As a last desperate resort, we might try to hasten recovery by doing something ourselves.

Thoughts On Modern Life

IS RECOVERY AT HAND?

Is recovery at hand?

I find interesting answers to this question in unsuspected quarters. These answers seem quite unconnected with the belief or disbelief in the soundness of the Roosevelt policies.

I have just talked with a distinguished American journalist who spent last night as a guest in my home. Yesterday he had talked with one of the most distinguished and conservative of American business men. This business man is, I suspect, in disagreement with almost every fundamental policy of the Roosevelt administration, and yet he thinks recovery is—heaven forgive the use of the phrase—just around the corner.

He is convinced that recovery will leap at us quite as suddenly and unexpectedly as the collapse of 1929 engulfed us. And he thinks Roosevelt will be no more responsible for recovery than Hoover was responsible for the collapse.

I think this distinguished man has formulated a pattern of theory from his study of the older depressions. He has noted that, by and large, the sixth year after the beginning of a depression sees a sudden boom in, say, the steel industry and like industries. This is our sixth year of depression. And he sets July as about the time we shall see a sudden upsurge of business.

Today I found a man who is as close to the farmers of the nation as any man I know—that is, close to their problems—and I found him with much the same belief. He, too, is not at all a Roosevelt fan. He is convinced that natural recovery forces are about ready to break the dam. And he thinks we shall see this summer a marked business boom with large unemployment still dogging our footsteps.

I am to talk his theory out with him again soon. I shall then report some observations on the soundness or unsoundness of his hope.

POOR DENNIS

"Dennis is getting worse every day."

"What's the matter with him now?"

"He doesn't mind a word I say. I told him about five minutes ago to put his book on the table and go upstairs to wash his hands. He laid the book on the chair, just where he was, and never moved to wash his hands. That's only a sample."

"Why don't you make him mind?"

"Makes him mind? Isn't that what I'm trying to do all day and all night long? Try it yourself and see."

"Dennis, march yourself up those stairs and wash your hands. Hear me?"

Father roared so loud that the windows rattled and Dennis, a look of startled fear and bewilderment on his face, hastened up the stairs.

"There, you see? All you got to do is make him understand you mean it. He thinks you're fooling with him."

Mother sighed and said no more. She couldn't shout like that, not even once a day and there were many occasions during the hour when she had to push and prod Dennis into doing simple things, such as closing his mouth, studying his lessons and doing his homework. His teacher was complaining about that homework, and about the inattention that spoiled every lesson. Something had to be done, but what?

"How are you getting along in school, boy?" asked father sternly, as Dennis returned, washed, clean, and brushed smoothly.

Dennis looked at his father duly and said nothing.

"I asked you a question. Haven't you a tongue in your head? Answer me," and again father roared his loudest.

"I don't know what you said," said Dennis bursting into tears.

"You don't know what I said? You don't want to know what I said. You go upstairs. I'll see about this later."

Now it was mother's turn to burst into tears. "That's right. The minute I try to help you with him you start to cry. No wonder he's getting worse and worse. Somebody'll have to take that young one in hand. What in time all him anyway?"

"Oh, I don't know. Ever since he
